Voters Maul Prestige Of French Chief

PARIS (AP) — French voters mauled the prestige of President Charles de Gaulle's government badly Sunday and left his forces with a majority of only one to three votes in the National Assembly. Even that narrow margin was in doubt.

With two of the 487 Assembly seats still undecided, the Ministry of Interior reported candidates pledged to De Gaulle had won 244 seats, or a majority of at least one in the full Assembly.

Other checks of the candidates' political labels indicated the Gaullists had won only 243 seats, while the combined opposition had 241 or 242. French political experts varied in their assessment of the situation.

The election for one seat in Tahiti will be held next Sunday. Another seat is being held for French Somaliland in case that African territory decides in a referendum next Sunday to remain with France rather than choosing independence.

The Gaullists had a solid 40-seat majority in the outgoing National Assembly.

The president's personal tenure was not affected, he having been elected in 1965 for a seven-year term. But whether De Gaulle will have a "governable" assembly will apparently hinge on a bloc of at least 30 and possible 42 seats controlled by Jean Lecanuet's Center Democrats. Lecanuet indicated before the elections that he would support the Gaullists on certain issues if they showed signs of adjusting to his demands. These include European unity and continuation of the Atlantic Alliance.

The voters knocked four of De Gaulle's ministers out—Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville, Defense Minister Pierre Messmer, Veterans Minister Alexandre Sanguinetti, and Jean Charbonnel, in charge of cooperation with former French African territories.

The Gaullist defeat, which had not been foreseen in public opinion polls, was fashioned largely by a smooth working electoral pact forged by the strong French Communist party and the leftist federation of Socialists and other non-Communist leftists.

The agreement brought the left surging into French politics in strength recalling the days of the victorious Popular Front in 1936.

The runoff election also was marked by the political comeback of leftist Pierre Mendes-France, who as premiere ended the French Indoechinese war in 1954. Mendes-France handily defeated a Gaullist in Grenoble.

Budget Studied In West Virginia

CHARLESTON (AP) — Refreshed from a day off after a frantic climax to the regular session Saturday night, West Virginia legislators returned to action today to piece together an all - time high state budget.

In the final flurry of activity, the state got new laws to prevent discrimination in public accommodations and employment, crack down on water and air pollution, increase unemployment benefits and permit financing of a graduate center in the Kanawha Valley.

Both houses, which were to meet at 10 a.m. today, have proposed similar budget totals for general revenue spending for the 1967-68 fiscal year.

The Senate version passed by a 29-2 vote at 12:30 a. m. Sunday one minute before adjournment — calls for $236.3 million in general revenue spending.

The House Finance Committee's version totals $235.5 million and was to be passed today in order to get the documents into conference committee.

The Senate bill amounts to a $37.2 million increase over the current budget and is $19.6 million above the recommended budget of the Board of Public Works.

A $20.7 million package of either new or increased taxes on business and the professions will pay for the increases in government costs. The tax bills levy the heaviest increases on manufacturers and now await the signature of Gov. Hulett Smith.

Legislative leaders said they expected to wrap up the extended session by Tuesday.

A three - day extension — through Wednesday — was authorized by a governor's proclamation, an automatic device to give legislators extra time to work on budget matters only.

A resolution had been prepared Saturday to extend the session to also take care of other legislation. But the resolution was never introduced and it appeared highly unlikely that a two - thirds majority in both houses could be mustered to approve the extension.

Stalin's Daughter Asks Swiss To Protect Privacy

BERN, Switzerland (AP) — Swiss Justice Minister Ludwig Von Moos said today that Joseph Stalin's daughter Svetlana wishes to make no public declaration and has asked Swiss authorities to protect her privacy.

Von Moos told a news conference that Miss Stalina, 42, was given a three-month tourist visa for Switzerland after the trip she planned to the United States "became impossible."

She arrived in Geneva from Rome Saturday and was whisked away to a secret hiding place in the Swiss Alps.

Von Moos gave no hint of her whereabouts and intimated that the federal police would make certain she was not bothered.

Von Moos referred to Miss Stalina as "Mrs. Aliluyeva," her mother's maiden name and the name she uses in the Soviet Union.

The minister said she arrived in India two months ago with the ashes of her Indian husband, Brijesh Singh, who had died in Moscow.

"During her stay in India, she decided not to return to the Soviet Union," he went on.

"However, her wish to remain in India was not granted. On her own initiative she then appealed to the United States Embassy in New Delhi which organized her transportation to Rome.

"As it turned out, the continuation of her journey from Rome to the United States became impossible, Mrs. Alliluyeva decided in Rome that she wanted to go to Switzerland and asked the U.S. authorities to sound out the Swiss government."

The Soviet government, reacting to whispered reports based on foreign radio broadcasts, announced that Stalin's daughter had gone abroad and how long she stays "is her private affair."

The brief report by the official Soviet news agency Tass did not mention that Miss Stalina has been reported afraid to return.

Many had heard of Miss Stalina's mysterious trip from New Delhi to Rome on Western broadcasts last Friday.

Guam Talks To Exclude Premier Ky

Seen Dramatizing U.S. Commitments To South Vietnam

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's Vietnam strategy huddle in Guam next week — though not expected to include Premier Nguyen Cao Ky — is regarded as another attempt to dramatize the U.S. military and civil development commitment to Ky's war-torn country.

Ky attended Johnson's last two Pacific conclaves — at Honolulu in February 1966 and at Manila last October.

But sources indicated the Guam session, announced Saturday night, will probably involve only top Americans, including Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, Ambassador to Saigon Henry Cabot Lodge, and Gen. William Westmoreland, commander of U.S. troops in Vietnam.

Johnson is to leave late Saturday and arrive early Monday Guam time.

George Christian, White House press secretary, said the meetings are expected to last "a short time — a few days at the most."

It is not expected that any major change in U.S. policy will come out of the meeting, but that emphasis will be placed on slowly increasing military pressure and intensifying attempts to win over the South Vietnamese people through economic and political development.

Likely also to be discussed are changes some have proposed to strengthen Westmoreland's command along the lines of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's supreme allied command in World War II.

The increasing military pressure has been underlined in the past few days by stepped up ground action and air strikes against North Vietnam's principal steel mill. Hanoi Radio claimed Sunday that U.S planes bombed an area within Hanoi city limits.

Though opponents of the bombing have continued to call for its halt as a means of promoting peace talks, Johnson is believed disillusioned with such efforts and believes instead that the price of the war for North Vietnam must be raised.

There were more antibombing statements Sunday, with the most unique development coming at a state meeting of the California Democratic Council in Fresno.

GRIMMS BRIDGE SLIDE. The almost annual spring slide on Grimms Bridge Rd. has again reduced traffic to one-way flow. Last week's heavy snow and rain followed by warm weather started the slippage, and St. Clair Township road crews put slag in the section about a mile from the Smith Ferry—Calcutta Rd. Last year the roadway sank deeply and had to be filled and slagged repeatedly. Beaver Local School District buses are unable to traverse the roadway, and students walk past the slide area.

North Viet Radio Claims Planes Also Struck At Capital

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. war planes made their heaviest strikes against North Vietnam in four months Sunday, concentrating their strongest attacks on an electric power center 32 miles northwest of Hanoi.

Seizing upon breaks in the weather, the American fighter-bombers from Thailand unloaded tons of bombs on the Viet Tri power complex, sending black and brown smoke billowing 3,000 feet in the air and visible in Hanoi.

Although Hanoi radio claimed U.S. jets hit the capital itself, a U.S. spokesman said the Viet Tri strike was the only one in the Hanoi area. Apart from hitting the power complex, American fliers struck only at antiaircraft gun positions in the immediate area, he said.

The spokesman said 128 missions were flown against the North Sunday, meaning that possibly 400 planes took part. It was the busiest day in the air war since Nov. 8.

One American jet was lost during the day and its two-man crew was reported missing. It was an RF4C Phantom photoreconnaissance plane which evidently went in after the raids.

One Soviet-designed MIG was sighted by the American pilots but it made no firing passes. U. S. spokesmen also reported sharp ground battles Sunday in the vital central highlands and an unusually high number of guerrilla attacks against isolated outposts. The ground action reflected apparent Communist determination to concentrate on hit-and-run assaults to increase allied casualties.

The Air Force spokesman said that heavy weather closed in on the Hanoi area just after the big American strikes. Most of the other Air Force, Navy and Marine strikes during the day fell on supply lines down the southern coast.

One flight of planes coming off the Viet Tri power plant raid, with their bombs all gone, lucked on a convoy of 50 trucks. The flight flashed down with 20mm cannon blazing and left many trucks aflame, a spokesman said.

With the weather over North Vietnam beginning to clear, near perfect flying weather is expected most days within the next month. The heavy raids Sunday seemed a clear signal to the Hanoi regime that as the weather clears, the bombing will increase.

Ohio Senate Vote Due On Sheriff Bill

Contingency Fund Would Be Set Up Under Legislation

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Sheriffs would have contingency funds equal to half their annual salaries under a bill up for a vote tonight in the Ohio Senate.

Sen. James K. Leedy R-19 Wayne and others sponsored the measure which they said would relieve sheriffs often hard pressed for funds to carry out investigations. Funds would be audited periodically.

The House scheduled a vote on a measure requiring pawn shop operators to obtain the identity of sellers as the legislators begins their 11th work week. They plan an 11-day Easter recess starting Friday.

Leaders of both Houses have said there probably will be no major bills considered before the recess but added that a vote could come before Friday on the big state employe pay raise bill.

Hearings probably will be completed by the House Finance Committee on Wednesday, Chairman Ralph E. Fisher R-24

In Bid For Powell's Seat

Meredith Quits Special Election

NEW YORK (AP) — James H. Meredith, a civil rights maverick who drew the wrath of many Negro leaders for opposing Adam Clayton Powell, suddenly pulled out of the special congressional race today. He apparently gave into growing pressures.

In a surprise post-midnight announcement, just as stunning as his entry into the race last Tuesday as the choice of Republican leaders, Meredith offered no explanation for his withdrawal. He declined to elaborate on a one-sentence statement: "I have decided not to run in the 18th Congressional District."

Some Harlem sources said that Meredith, an independent Democrat, bowed to pressures from civil rights leaders. There also were reports that Powell, through intermediaries, had been appealing to Meredith to drop out.

The appeals were said to have been made on grounds of a need for Negro unity. Meredith reportedly was told that by accepting the Republican nomination to run against Powell, a Democrat, he would be the white man's candidate.

Sources said Meredith was told that he could make an even more dramatic gestures by giving up the support of the white people. This, it was said, would make him an even bigger hero in the Negro community.

One factor that reportedly indirectly influenced his decision to quit, it was understood, was a statement by Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

King said in Hartford, Conn., Sunday night that Meredith's campaign against Powell in Harlem is ill-timed. King said that it would be much better for the House to seat Powell again because of what he termed "unique factors" which would cause Harlem Negroes to vote for him en masse.

Meredith, 33, admitted when he accepted the Republican offer to oppose Powell that he was laying himself open to "the fear and the scorn from fellow Negroes."

Not a single Negro political leader of either major party, or any Harlem community or national civil rights leader supported him. They said he was being used and didn't stand a chance of winning.

2 Men Face 4 Charges In Midland Case

Hearings Are Set For Wednesday In District Incident

A truck driver charged with assault on a hitchhiker and traffic violations stemming from a wreck in the east end of Midland and a passenger who was charged with carrying a pistol are scheduled for hearings Wednesday.

Darriel Wayne Dorsey, 20, of Monaca, the driver, and Dan Smith of Jackson St., Rochester, were jailed at Midland following the incident at the Midland - Industry borough line Saturday.

Police said a 1963 panel truck driven by Dorsey overturned on its roof while headed east Saturday night at 5:58 and skidded 15 feet over the borough line into Industry.

Dorsey was later charged with reckless driving, no owner's card in his possession and illegal transfer of plates.

He was also charged with assault and battery on a complaint filed by Donald Brown, 18, of Smiths Ferry R. D. 1, a hitchhiker.

Smith, police said, left the scene of the truck accident on foot and was arrested on Midland Ave. between 12th and 13th Sts. at 6:45 p. m. by Industry

Oath Taken By Gandhi As India Premier

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Indira Gandhi was sworn in as prime minister of India again today and announced a new cabinet she hopes will lead the crisis-ridden country "on the path to progress."

Morarji Desai, 71, was sworn in as Mrs. Gandhi's new deputy prime minister. He also was appointed finance minister, a post he had held under her father, Jawaharlal Nehru.

President Sarvepalli Radhakrishnan completed the ceremony at his residence by administering oaths of office to 17 other ministers named by Mrs Gandhi. She was sworn in exactly at 10:45 a.m., the moment astrologers thought most auspicious.

Members of the ruling Congress Party in Parliament unanimously re-elected Mrs. Gandhi their leader Sunday after Desai withdrew his own candidacy for prime minister in the interest of party unity.

Rhodes Cuts Visit Short; On Way Back

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—The Ohio Trade Mission left for Bankok this afternoon without its leader, Gov. James A. Rhodes. He cut short his visit to the Far East because of urgent but undisclosed business at home.

Rhodes received a telegram Sunday morning and went ahead to Bangkok Sunday afternoon with plans to fly home from there.

Back in Columbus, Ohio, Rhodes' chief aide, John McElroy, said the governor probably was heading home "to meet the press of business and start the campaign for his proposed Ohio Bond Commission."

McElroy said he had no idea what the telegram was about, only that it possibly was "very personal."

"There is no crisis in the state government," McElroy added. "Had there been, no doubt I would have known about it."

Rhodes Cuts Visit Short; On Way Back

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—The Ohio Trade Mission left for Bankok this afternoon without its leader, Gov. James A. Rhodes. He cut short his visit to the Far East because of urgent but undisclosed business at home.

Rhodes received a telegram Sunday morning and went ahead to Bangkok Sunday afternoon with plans to fly home from there.

Back in Columbus, Ohio, Rhodes' chief aide, John McElroy, said the governor probably was heading home "to meet the press of business and start the campaign for his proposed Ohio Bond Commission."

McElroy said he had no idea what the telegram was about, only that it possibly was "very personal."

"There is no crisis in the state government," McElroy added. "Had there been, no doubt I would have known about it."

Birth Control Pills Studied In Case Of Mexico Octuplets

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Mexican doctors are trying to determine whether birth control pills had anything to do with the birth of octuplets to Maria Teresa Lopez de Sepulveda. All eight children died within 13 hours of birth.

Doctors at the hospital where the infants died said they are using autopsy results to see if they can find a definite link between the birth control pills taken by the mother and the multiple births.

Mrs. Sepulveda, 21, took birth control pills for about a year, but stopped taking them about eight months before the birth of the four boys and four girls last Friday.

The birth of octuplets has been recorded twice before in this century — in Mexico in 1921 and in China in 1934.

Dr. Kurt Ambrosius Diener, director of pathology at the 20th of November hospital, performed autopsies on the eight children before their burial. He said final results will not be ready for a week or 10 days but they apparently died because of underdeveloped respiratory systems.

The doctor also said the mother and father would be asked to submit to physical examinations next week. The father, Genaro, 24, is a bookkeeper for the Mexican Social Security Institute.

Dr. Pablo Rodriguez Medina, the pediatrician who was in charge of the eight infants during their brief lives, said multiple births in Mexico have increased about 200 per cent since birth control pills were introduced into Mexico.

Another doctor said there have been many cases of multiple births in the United States after the mother stopped taking the pills. He said doctors are still trying to figure out why this happens.

Abandoned Auto Torn By Freight

A car abandoned on the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. tracks at Market St. was demolished Sunday at 4:45 a. m. when struck by a westbound freight, officers said.

The two-door sedan was registered to Mary Mercer of 234 Church Alley, who later filed a report that the auto had been stolen some time after 5 p. m. Friday from W. 3rd St.

Police said the car apparently was bandoned, as the emergency brake was set and the ignition switch was turned off. The locomotive shoved the auto about 250 feet. The car came to a rest right side up on the south side of the tracks.

O. W. Clarke of Columbus was identified as the engineer of the Pennsy freight. Lt. Paul A. Burson Jr. and Patrolman David K. Mumaw investigated.

Driver Fined As Car Rolls On Freeway

William G. Koziar, 24, of Bernville, Pa., was fined $15 and costs today by Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff on reckless driving charges filed by police after his auto overturned Friday night on the Freeway near a West End ramp.

Koziar pleaded "no contest" on the affidavit signed by Patrolman David K. Mumaw. The officer testified Koziar was inbound in a 1966 model compact when he apparently lost control. The car rolled and skidded about 100 feet, he said. It was termed a total loss.

Meanwhile, the judge set a hearing Thursday at 9 a. m. for Charles F. Streets of Post Office Box 55, Newell, who asked time to obtain counsel on a charge of driving while under the influence of alcohol. Streets was arrested Friday at 6:33 p. m. by Patrolmen W. F. Copestick and Mumaw, officers said.

Glenn J. Burlingame, 27, of 345 Grant St. was fined $15 and costs on a Highway Patrol charge of failure to stop in the assured clear distance. He pleaded guilty.

Burlingame was cited after a mishap on Campground Rd. Thursday at 8 a. m. in which his car hit the rear of a vehicle ahead, the patrol reported.

Judge Chertoff commented he would have dealt more severely with Burlingame, but leniency was requested by the other driver, Joseph G. Reed, 49, of Shadyside Ave.

Reed suffered a fractured right arm in the mishap. He is southern county service officer for the Columbiana County Soldiers & Sailors Relief Commission.

Driver Forfeits Bond In Wellsville Mishap

Walter Harvey Claypool, 18, of Chicora, Pa., in Beaver County, forfeited a $25 bond this morning after he failed to appear in mayor's court following his arrest Sunday for reckless operation by Wellsville police.

Claypool was charged after he reportedly struck a parked car on Buckeye Ave. owned by Thomas Gualtier of 714½ Aten Ave. at 1:35 p. m. yesterday.

Hearings

Acting Police Chief Marko Ratkovich and Midland Patrolman Paul Anthony.

The officers said Smith had in his possession a loaded .22-caliber revolver along with 45 rounds of ammunition.

Both Dorsey and Smith were jailed at Midland, but later released under bond by Justice of the Peace Steve Germusa for hearings Wednesday.

Police said Charles Anderson of Stop 9, Smiths Ferry, and David Anderson of Monaca, also passengers in the truck, along with the other two men apparently were not injured.

Officers said the four, transporting a television set, had earlier halted on Route 68 in Smiths Ferry and Dorsey got out to talk to Brown and another hitchhiker.

Brown said Dorsey swung at him, knocking off his glasses, and he then threw Dorsey over a slight embankment.

Dorsey told police the truck mishap occurred when he passed another auto at the east edge of Midland, swerved back into his own lane too quickly and rolled over.

Officers said the plates on the truck were registered to a 1957 station wagon owned by a member of his family.

Midland Police Sgt. Joseph McLean and Patrolman William Monac assisted in the case.

Major Bills Passed By W. Va. Legislature

— Provide for an additional county tax of 55 cents per $500 of value of real estate transfers starting next Jan. 1. This turns over to the counties an equivalent tax being dropped by the federal government.

— Create a State Board of Investment to handle investment of state funds.

gating complaints of discrimination.

The power of subpoena was the central issue heading into the session's deadline Saturday. The House - passed bill included the provision, but when the bill reached amendment stage in the Senate a major effort was made to take it out.

Sen. R. E. Barnett, D-Mercer, following more than an hour of general parliamentary confusion on the Senate floor, was defeated in his amendment to strike subpoena power on a 17-17 tie vote.

The Senate spent 2½ hours in debate on the human rights bill, which does not include any provision for open housing. The final vote was 30-4 in the Senate, and the House approved the final version 98-0.

The act will give the commission authority to police equal opportunity in businesses with 25 or more employes and in public accommodations.

More power was given to the state in separate pieces of legislation Saturday night to control the contamination of water and the air in West Virginia.

At 11:59 p.m. — one minute before the session's deadline the bill giving broad new authority to the state to control water pollution was passed by the Senate 32-1. The House only minutes earlier passed it 80-62.

Del. John D. Rockefeller IV, D-Kanawha, who helped guide the measure through the House, declared it puts "guts and teeth" into water pollution enforcement.

The Natural Resources Department's water division chief would have authority to investigate alleged pollution sources and issue cease and desist orders on the spot.

Fines will be toughened under the law, making each day of pollution a separate offense. The third day of violation could bring a $1,000 fine.

The legal definition of water pollution also was broadened to make it easier for the state to prove pollution has occurred. Violators would have only a certain number of days, determined by the water division chief, to take remedial action or be shut down and fined.

The air pollution act also levies stiff fines ranging from $100 to $1,000, with each day constituting a separate offense.

Also relaxed was the definition of air pollution, removing the stipulation in the former law that it must be "continual or regular." Now, the state merely has to prove it happened before legal action can be taken.

The Air Pollution Control Commission's membership also would be enlarged from five to seven members — giving the commission three members representing the public - at - large, two for industry and two from government. In the past, industry has dominated the board's representation.

Also passed in the final flurry of business was an act increasing unemployment benefits starting April 1 from the present $35 per week maximum to $43 per week.

The United Kingdom still leads the world in the consumption of tea. The per capita consumption there is nine pounds per year, compared to .66-pound for the United States.

Wayne, said. That would make a floor vote possible on Thursday.

Finance Director Richard Krabach plans to appear later Wednesday at a joint meeting of the House and Senate finance committees. He will explain the administration's record $2 billion operating budget to committee members.

The finance director said he will review the document in the same form as it was submitted by Gov. James A. Rhodes—balanced and with no new taxes.

Tax proposals may come later after reports of study committees are in, possibly in early May, administration spokesmen said.

Various committee hearings are on tap this week. The Senate Judiciary Committee will hear Wednesday a measure to ban capital punishment. Other Senate bills due for hearing would provide tax exemptions for installation of water pollution equipment and make extensive revisions in Ohio's banking laws.

Besides the state pay raise bill, the House will hear measures to increase fishing and hunting license fees, set priorities for counting of votes for President, governor, U. S. Senators, and congressmen, and bring teachers paid with federal funds into the state teacher retirement system.

Hearing Planned In Support Case

Judge Samuel M. Chertoff today set a hearing Thursday at 9 a. m. for Earl Newton of 743 St. Clair Ave., charged with "wilfully and unlawfully failing, neglecting and refusing" to provide for the support of his 78-year-old mother, a resident of Butler, Pa.

The affidavit was signed Friday by Clyde C. Newton of 209 Campbell Rd., Butler. It alleges that the East Liverpool man has not provided his mother, Mabel F. Newton, "with proper shelter, food, care and clothing" although she is "destitute of means."

Newton, appearing before the judge this morning, requested time to obtain counsel. The court then granted the continuance and released him on his own recognizance.

— Lengthen the employment term of public school teachers from 9½ to 10 months and give them Memorial Day as an added paid holiday, for a total of seven a year.

—Raise State Police salaries $50 a month across the board.

— Provide for an additional county tax of 55 cents per $500 of value of real estate transfers starting next Jan. 1. This turns over to the counties an equivalent tax being dropped by the federal government.

— Create a State Board of Investment to handle investment of state funds.

gating complaints of discrimination.

The power of subpoena was the central issue heading into the session's deadline Saturday. The House - passed bill included the provision, but when the bill reached amendment stage in the Senate a major effort was made to take it out.

Sen. R. E. Barnett, D-Mercer, following more than an hour of general parliamentary confusion on the Senate floor, was defeated in his amendment to strike subpoena power on a 17-17 tie vote.

The Senate spent 2½ hours in debate on the human rights bill, which does not include any provision for open housing. The final vote was 30-4 in the Senate, and the House approved the final version 98-0.

The act will give the commission authority to police equal opportunity in businesses with 25 or more employes and in public accommodations.

More power was given to the state in separate pieces of legislation Saturday night to control the contamination of water and the air in West Virginia.

At 11:59 p.m. — one minute before the session's deadline the bill giving broad new authority to the state to control water pollution was passed by the Senate 32-1. The House only minutes earlier passed it 80-62.

Del. John D. Rockefeller IV, D-Kanawha, who helped guide the measure through the House, declared it puts "guts and teeth" into water pollution enforcement.

The Natural Resources Department's water division chief would have authority to investigate alleged pollution sources and issue cease and desist orders on the spot.

Fines will be toughened under the law, making each day of pollution a separate offense. The third day of violation could bring a $1,000 fine.

The legal definition of water pollution also was broadened to make it easier for the state to prove pollution has occurred. Violators would have only a certain number of days, determined by the water division chief, to take remedial action or be shut down and fined.

The air pollution act also levies stiff fines ranging from $100 to $1,000, with each day constituting a separate offense.

Also relaxed was the definition of air pollution, removing the stipulation in the former law that it must be "continual or regular." Now, the state merely has to prove it happened before legal action can be taken.

The Air Pollution Control Commission's membership also would be enlarged from five to seven members — giving the commission three members representing the public - at - large, two for industry and two from government. In the past, industry has dominated the board's representation.

Also passed in the final flurry of business was an act increasing unemployment benefits starting April 1 from the present $35 per week maximum to $43 per week.

The United Kingdom still leads the world in the consumption of tea. The per capita consumption there is nine pounds per year, compared to .66-pound for the United States.

Wayne, said. That would make a floor vote possible on Thursday.

Finance Director Richard Krabach plans to appear later Wednesday at a joint meeting of the House and Senate finance committees. He will explain the administration's record $2 billion operating budget to committee members.

The finance director said he will review the document in the same form as it was submitted by Gov. James A. Rhodes—balanced and with no new taxes.

Tax proposals may come later after reports of study committees are in, possibly in early May, administration spokesmen said.

Various committee hearings are on tap this week. The Senate Judiciary Committee will hear Wednesday a measure to ban capital punishment. Other Senate bills due for hearing would provide tax exemptions for installation of water pollution equipment and make extensive revisions in Ohio's banking laws.

Besides the state pay raise bill, the House will hear measures to increase fishing and hunting license fees, set priorities for counting of votes for President, governor, U. S. Senators, and congressmen, and bring teachers paid with federal funds into the state teacher retirement system.

Hearing Planned In Support Case

Judge Samuel M. Chertoff today set a hearing Thursday at 9 a. m. for Earl Newton of 743 St. Clair Ave., charged with "wilfully and unlawfully failing, neglecting and refusing" to provide for the support of his 78-year-old mother, a resident of Butler, Pa.

The affidavit was signed Friday by Clyde C. Newton of 209 Campbell Rd., Butler. It alleges that the East Liverpool man has not provided his mother, Mabel F. Newton, "with proper shelter, food, care and clothing" although she is "destitute of means."

Newton, appearing before the judge this morning, requested time to obtain counsel. The court then granted the continuance and released him on his own recognizance.

Are Things Really Worse?

Ask any group of citizens picked at random how they feel about the moral tone of this nation.

Their anwers will be uniform.

They feel the moral tone of the nation is deteriorating.

They will spell it out for you.

They will point their fingers at the evidence.

Congress isn't as honorable as it used to be.

Young people aren't as clean-cut as they used to be.

Hundreds of thousands of Americans have lost their desire to work.

Workmen, themselves, aren't as good as they should be. They don't work enough. Efficency is going to pot.

Too many people spend their incomes to the hilt, instead of saving for a rainy day.

Nothing is as good as it should be. Not enough people go to church on Sunday, or to work on Monday.

Everybody is looking for an easy way out — a main chance.

Politicians are slipperier than they should be.

Most doctors are afflicted with professional reaction.

Lawyers are less interested in justice than in drawing fees.

There are credibility gaps, generation gaps, loyalty gaps, honesty gaps.

How about it?

THE ANSWER must be personal.

It is not enough to point at someone else as proof that things are getting worse.

That has been the classic mistake of the older generation, which always has pointed to the seediest members of the younger generation to prove the whole generation was going to pot.

The fact always has been that the overwhelming majority of the younger generation did not feel that way about it. It invariably acquitted itself with distinction. Otherwise, there would have been no older generations qualified to criticize younger generations.

READ EVERY indictment of the other fellow's inferior behavior with awareness of one strong probability:

He can make an indictment of your behavior, too.

If he is finding evidence to indict you for the same things you are indicting him for, both of you are in the same fix.

Is the moral tone of the United States deteriorating?

Is your moral tone deteriorating?

Honestly, are you any worse than you used to be?

Aid And Comfort To Whom?

The refusal of Quaker groups to abide by the Treasury Department's ban on applications to send money to North Vietnam for medical purposes poses an interesting question.

Society of Friends organizations in the United States are sending money to North Vietnam through Canadian Friends Service Committee.

The Treasury Department has opposed forwarding money to Red Cross agencies in North Vietnam because of a possibility it will not go only to civilians.

Treasury Department officials claim this would be aiding the enemy.

But there is no enemy. War has never been declared.

There is fighting. There is tremendous loss of life. But neither the United States nor any other nation has seen fit to declare war.

In the absence of a declaration of war, how can there be an enemy?

And there is no declaration forthcoming, either. It would upset the present balance that permits Red China and Russia to help North Vietnam. It would entail taking action to stop that aid.

It would mean getting tough with other countries that send supplies into North Vietnamese harbors.

It would mean upsetting East-West trade and diplomatic relations.

'Should' And 'Must'

WASHINGTON

The words "should" and "must" made and make a lot of difference.

The President asked the State Department to draft the message he wanted to read to Congress. He thought the first draft was too wishy-washy. He sent it back. Then he got the second version.

It said letting communism gobble up one country after another would jeopardize this country's national security by endangering world peace and weakening other still - free countries' will to resist.

The President thought this was the key sentence: "I believe it should be the policy of the United States to support free peoples who are resisting attempted subjugation by armed minorities or outside pressures."

He didn't like that word "should." It was too 'half - hearted,' he felt. He scratched it out and wrote in "must.'

Then, 20 years ago Sunday the President, Harry S. Truman, read to Congress a message which asked $400 million in economic aid to Greece and Turkey and changed American foreign policy.

ISOLATIONISM was abandoned and the United States, assuming leadership of the non - Communist world, understood commitments that involved it around the globe, and still do, in economic aid and even war.

The latest example of both is Vietnam, where President Johnson repeatedly has said American involvement is for the sake of American national security.

At that time in 1947, when the Truman doctrine was first stated, Moscow was pressuring Turkey and Greece was near collapse under the onslaughts of Communist guerrillas. Truman's decision was not something long thought out.

It was sudden, made necessary when Britain, weakened by World War II, informed this country on Feb. 21 it couldn't even help Greece any further. There was no time to waste.

With the help of his top advisers, Truman made his decision, one of the most important in American history, got his message written and read it to Congress by March 12.

But in 1947 the full implications of the Truman Doctrine were not as clear as later. At that time the Soviet Union was the only great danger. It wasn't until two years later that the Communists took over China.

In the beginning American policy sought to "contain" the Soviets. The Truman Doctrine was followed quickly by the Marshall Plan of economic aid for Europe and then by the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, the military alliance to protect Western Europe.

As history unfolded, American obligations spread with treaties around the world, including Asia.

This country has not always adhered rigidly to the Truman Doctrine, which said it "must" be the policy of the United States to support free people who are resisting attempted subjugation by armed minorities or outside pressure.

THERE HAVE been times where it may have felt it "should" but did nothing. In 1948, under Truman, it did not intervene when Communists took over Czechoslovakia, making it a Soviet satellite. It did not intervene in 1956 when Soviet troops crushed the Hungarian revolt against communism. Nor has it stepped in directly to get rid of Fidel Castro in Cuba.

But it did step in when communism tried to take over South Korea. It made Stalin back down when he tried his Berlin blockade. It intervened in the Dominican Republic to prevent a Communist take - over. And it is in Vietnam.

But debate which began in Truman's time—over 'should' and "must" — continues, more so than ever, in Vietnam where a lot of American opinion is against any involvement at all.

Once upon a time, a policeman accosted a thief leading an elephant he had stolen and asked the man why he had stolen it.

The thief looked blankly at the officer, shrugged his shoulders and replied: "What elephant?"

The Quakers apparently have decided to look "What enemy?"

It Really Works

The familiar saying, "An apple a day keeps the doctor away," may not be all wrong, according to a Canadian dietitian.

Dr. J. M. R. Beveridge, president of Arcadia University, told a group of growers that studies are revealing apples "provide a substance having both prophylactic and therapeutic powers."

In a recent test, a group of students ate two or three apples a day and results indicate they suffered from fewer upper respiratory and tension disorders.

Dr. Beveridge urged a stepped-up program of research into the value of apples and other farm products beyond that of supplying food calories.

A positive finding in such a research project would bring new respect to another well-known adage, "How do you like those apples?!"

Through The Years

From The Review Files

THIRTY YEARS AGO — Leonard A. Schepp, veteran East Liverpool mail carrier, walked 100,000 miles during his 31 years' service. He served 18 years in East End and 13 in the downtown routes.

TWENTY YEARS AGO — George E. Ewing, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Ewing of Carolina Ave., Chester, was graduated from the University of Rochester Medical School, Rochester, N. Y.

John W. Shaffer of St. Clair Ave. was named a Municipal Court jury commissioner.

The Rev. J. Ray Thompson, pastor of the Chester Methodist Church, tendered his resignation to become pastor of the Presbyterian Church at North Girard, Pa.

TEN YEARS AGO — Mrs. Herbert Plotts and Mrs. T. H. Larkins were received as new members by the New Century Club at the Mary Patterson Memorial.

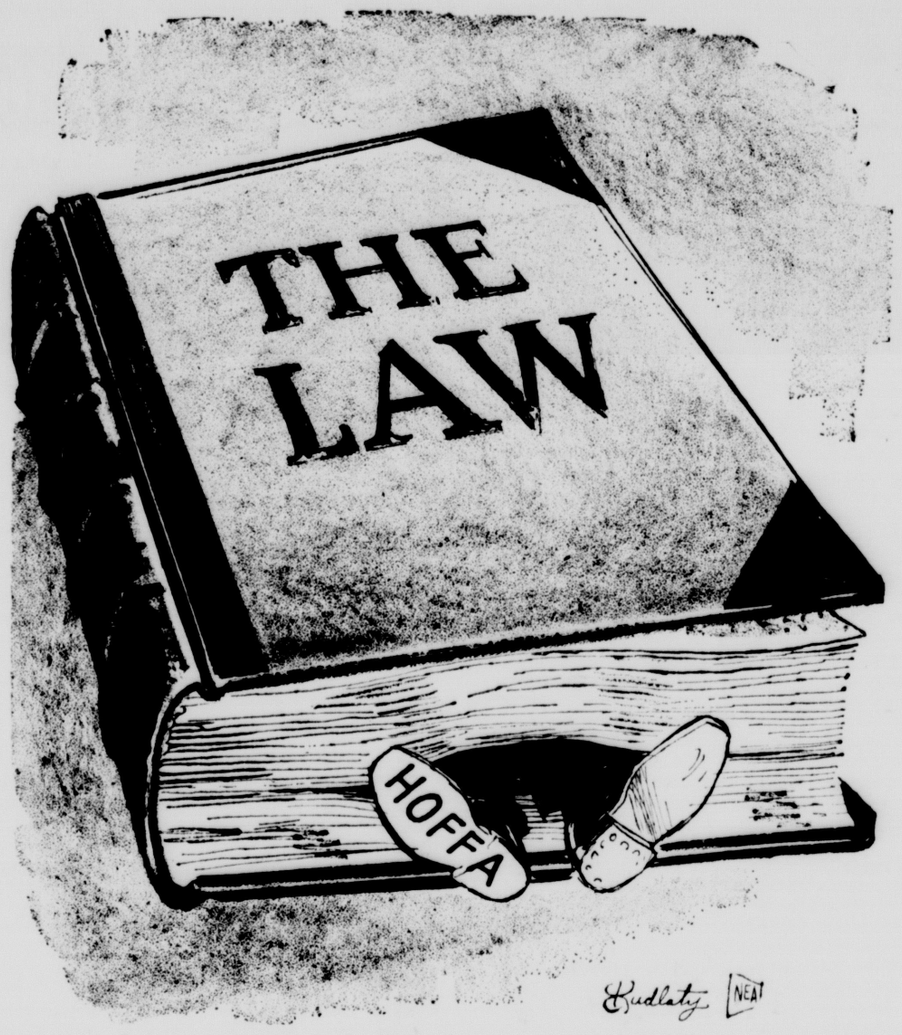
Mrs. Carl Werner was elected for her second term as president of the Christian Women's Fellowship of the First Church of Christ.

This 'n That

At the "eye," or center, of a hurricane, there is a region of about 14 miles across that is perfectly peaceful and calm.

Winnepeg ranks as Canada's railroad center. It is served by the two national Canadian railways and branch lines fork out in all directions. Winnipeg is also the central headquarters of the Trans-Canada Airlines.

The adult population of the United States today has about 80 per cent more high school graduates than it did 20 years ago.



You Can't Lose!

By Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON

The debate on Vietnam has been escalating along with the fighting, and now it's rare to go to a party and not get into a hot fight over what we should or should not be doing there.

Art Buchwald

Prof. Heinrich Applebaum, the military analyst of Seventeen magazine, has just written a book titled "How to Fight the Vietnam War in the Living Room."

It is the only book written for both doves and hawks. And I was happy to interview him about it the other day.

"This war will not be won in the rice paddies of the Mekong Delta, but rather in the salons and renovated basements of the American home," Applebaum told me.

"How does one start a discussion on the Vietnamese war?"

"The best way is to say 'I agree we shouldn't have been there in the first place, but . . . ' It's a perfect opener if you're a hawk and it shows you're willing to concede that the government has made mistakes."

"And if you're a dove?"

"YOUR OPENING line should be 'I'm not for just pulling out and leaving South Vietnam in the lurch, but . . . ' This should prove to your listeners that you're a man of reason and you're not going to get emotional about the issue."

"As a hawk, what should you do next?"

"Mention Munich, the domino theory and our commitment to the free world, not necessarily in that order."

"And if you're a dove?"

"Talk about the stupidity of the French, the naivete of John Foster Dulles and the right for people to have their own revolutions without outside interference from the United States."

"How do you follow it up?"

"You have to quote sources. If you're a hawk, you quote Joe Alsop, Bob Hope, Cardinal Spellman, Barry Goldwater and Time magazine. If you're a dove, you refer to Walter Lippmann's last column, speeches by Sen. Fulbright and Robert F. Kennedy and testimony by Gen. Gavin, Robert Lowell and Joan Baez. Even if they didn't say something, you can always claim they did. No one in the living room is going to be able to check up on you."

"DON'T YOU QUOTE President Johnson, Secretary Dean Rusk or Robert McNamara?"

"It's hardly worth it. Neither the hawks nor the doves believe anything the people in our government tell them."

"Outsiders always know more," I agreed.

"Now if you see the argument is running down, you can always refer to a book you read on Vietnam. People are very impressed with anyone in the crowd who has read a book and it shows you've gone deeper into the subject than anyone else in the room."

"Any special book?"

"The best one is a title that no one has ever heard of, particularly if it's been written by someone with a foreign name. It will make the other side mad and he'll have to come up with a book of his own."

"It gets harder as you go along," I said.

"The important thing is to speak with authority and pretend to know what you're talking about."

"But suppose you lose the argument?"

"You can always punch the guy in the nose."

Cotton Corners

By Truman Twill

Dear Nephew: Your aunt and I drove out to the sugar camp this afternoon and want to report all is well. The good old world has come through another winter in good condition.

We cannot say the same for people.

We've never seen more human wreckage in the wake of winter, nor morale more severely shattered. But Mother Earth is in great shape.

If all of us micro-organisms vanished overnight, the old matriarch would keep careening through infinity beyond any span of time that can be measured. She'd never miss us.

I think of this often.

It is good mental therapy for what your aunt and I call the glums. Everybody gets them.

When the world looks like the worst of all possible places to be, remember you're doing it no favor by being here. You'd never be missed if you went away—not as far as the world is concerned.

We sometimes get the idea the red ant had while riding through the rapids on a 40-foot log—that we are doing the whole thing by ourselves and things had better be done our way or we'll jump off.

Better think twice about jumping.

This is the best of all possible worlds. We may not like it, but it's the best we can have. We can't do comparative shopping.

Out in the sugar grove, the birds are busy. In the sky overhead, hawks are circling. Rabbits and squirrels are scurrying.

In the waterlogged ground, worms were busy. In their burrows, groundhogs are still drowsy, but soon they will be busy. Everything in nature will be busy.

Men, of course, are being busy, too, in their various ways. A great many of them are busy killing one another this spring, which isn't noteworthy, because men have been killing one another more springs than not.

It seems too, if men were standing before the ultimate tribunal along with all other men who have been guilty of doing the same thing and a spokesman was explaining the justification for human slaughter mankind would see how absurd it is to think slaughter has anything to do with improving the earth.

Mother Earth couldn't care less whether her unruly human tenants live or die. She has seen other unruly tenants obliterate one another in this time. Man are just one more phase in the timeless tolerance of our planet.

If we continue to destroy one another, that's the way it will be with us. We'll disappear.

When we went to the sugar camp this afternoon, we were having the glums. We had just read that the other side in Vietnam had set a new record of 1,617 casualties of Americans in one week—232 dead and 1,381 mutilated bodies. Our side had killed and mutiliated even more combatants on the other side, to say nothing of uncounted noncombatants burned to death, blown to death and mangled by our ultra-efficient machinery of extermination and mutilation.

The good earth couldn't care less. Life goes on with or without us. Without us, the earth would be infinitely more serene.

COTTON CORNERS — UNCLE GEORGE

Freshly Cut

Like Popeye the Sailor, chemists studying photosynthesis owe a lot to spinach.

Using freshly - cut spinach, scientists at the University of California have almost exactly duplicated in the laboratory the long-mysterious life process known as photosynthesis.

In photosynthesis, the green chlorophyll in plants converts sunlight and chemicals into food, energy, and oxygen, the National Geographic Society says. All of the earth's living things — both plant and animal — depend directly or indirectly on the process.

In their study of spinach, the California chemists use an ordinary blender to convert the leaves into juice. The juice is then whirled in a centrifuge to separate the individual cells. From these cells are extracted the chloroplasts, or cell organs, in which photosynthesis actually takes place. Separation of the chloroplasts enables the scientists to investigate photosynthesis apart from the other chemical reactions that normally occur in the cells.

Placed in a special solution, the chloroplasts derived from spinach begin photosynthesis whenever exposed to light.

Reds Vanish

By Victor Riesel

Unions Oust Old Pros

SAN DIEGO — After trekking across the nation, this inquisitive newsman can report that the Reds are a disappearing tribe—inside labor.

They are, in fact, almost extinct. Where they led some 2.5 million people in tough, strategically placed unions only 16 years ago, this brand of militant left winger today leads, but does not control, some 206,000 duespayers.

Victor Riesel

Back in 1949-50 a labor lawyer by the name of Arthur J. Goldberg acted as "prosecutor" against the leadership of 11 mass unions. The court was the labor movement itself. The "dependents" were those with adherence to a pro-Communist line. Union after union was expelled.

Today there are only two of these organizations operating under a somewhat worried leadership.

Last January marked the end of the long trail for this brand of unionism. Some had disappeared as hundreds of thousands of American working people rejected the constantly peddled propaganda of champions of the Soviets and the Maoists. Union memberships changed so much in age and character that the United Steelworkers on Jan. 17 absorbed the once turbulently left-wing Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers. It had dwindled to 28,000 members in the U.S.

THE TEAMSTERS took in the tiny American Communications Association (one of those ousted in 1950) and turned it into a communications division.

This left but the United Electrical Workers with only some 140,000 of its original half million members and the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union (ILWU) led by the gruff devotee of the Soviets and the National Liberation Front, Harry Bridges. (The latter may yet merge with the AFL-CIO's East and Gulf Coast longshoremen.) With headquarters in San Francisco, he has some 60,000 followers on this coast ranging north to the border into Alaska and over to Hawaii.

But 'Arry, the once terrible Mr. Bang of the bloody San Francisco waterfront strikes, now is an older, more sedate, more cautious radical. And like all men who must live by their shrewd political wits, Bridges appears to be a devotee of the polls.

He wants to know what his membership is thinking and he is sufficiently wise to know that he just doesn't know—because the rank and file is changing so swiftly, growing younger while so many labor leaders grow older and more distant from the people they lead.

SO BRIDGES and his comrades in the west coast longshoremen's leadership have devised a most unique poll and dispatched it to all members. The point, it can be presumed, is not to wait until the membership dispatches the officers into limbo because the twains rarely meet.

"In order to chart the union's course at the April convention," said the covering memo, "we want to find out what you and the other members of the ILWU are thinking about the union and its program.

". . . As we all know, the union is changing rapidly. Many old timers are no longer around and more will be leaving shortly. There are many new members and new leaders are emerging in every local. . . ."

Then follows the most unique questionnaire in labor history. The first, for example, asks whether the rank and file believes the union is "fine" the way it is or whether it could and should be doing a lot more, or whether the member thinks he or she "can do just as well without the ILWU, and if I had my choice, I wouldn't belong."

And then there is question nine which actually asks if the member voted for Ronald Reagan or Pat Brown—in itself an admission the union might not have been able to swing its people against the one man who took them all on and beat them.

In queston 8 of the 23 queries, the poll asks whether "the ILWU in the best interests of its members should identify with the Democratic or Republican parties or stay independent."

"What happens," one labor chap asked, "if Harry does not get the answer he seeks?"

THERE ARE questions on membership meetings—should they be voluntary or compulsory, or are they a "waste of time"?

And Brother Bridges goes away out on the main sail by asking "in regard to democracy within the ILWU, check which statement reflects your opinion: The leaders of the ILWU always listen to and obey the instructions and wishes of the members. The leaders ignore the members as often as they listen to them. The leaders seldom listen to the members. And the ILWU is run by a bunch of bureaucrats who never listen."

By asking a sharp question, Bridges invites a sharp answer. That doesn't worry him.

What he wants to know is how to stay atop the trends of the times. That's how his tribe survived.

Odd Facts

There is no difference in sweetness between pure cane sugar and pure beet sugar. Completely refined sugar made from sugar cane and completely refined sugar made from beets are identical in chemical composition. Only in the unrefined state is there any difference.

Too many people spend their incomes to the hilt, instead of saving for a rainy day.

Nothing is as good as it should be. Not enough people go to church on Sunday, or to work on Monday.

Everybody is looking for an easy way out — a main chance.

Politicians are slipperier than they should be.

Most doctors are afflicted with professional reaction.

Lawyers are less interested in justice than in drawing fees.

There are credibility gaps, generation gaps, loyalty gaps, honesty gaps.

How about it?

THE ANSWER must be personal.

It is not enough to point at someone else as proof that things are getting worse.

That has been the classic mistake of the older generation, which always has pointed to the seediest members of the younger generation to prove the whole generation was going to pot.

The fact always has been that the overwhelming majority of the younger generation did not feel that way about it. It invariably acquitted itself with distinction. Otherwise, there would have been no older generations qualified to criticize younger generations.

READ EVERY indictment of the other fellow's inferior behavior with awareness of one strong probability:

He can make an indictment of your behavior, too.

If he is finding evidence to indict you for the same things you are indicting him for, both of you are in the same fix.

Is the moral tone of the United States deteriorating?

Is your moral tone deteriorating?

Honestly, are you any worse than you used to be?

Aid And Comfort To Whom?

The refusal of Quaker groups to abide by the Treasury Department's ban on applications to send money to North Vietnam for medical purposes poses an interesting question.

Society of Friends organizations in the United States are sending money to North Vietnam through Canadian Friends Service Committee.

The Treasury Department has opposed forwarding money to Red Cross agencies in North Vietnam because of a possibility it will not go only to civilians.

Treasury Department officials claim this would be aiding the enemy.

But there is no enemy. War has never been declared.

There is fighting. There is tremendous loss of life. But neither the United States nor any other nation has seen fit to declare war.

In the absence of a declaration of war, how can there be an enemy?

And there is no declaration forthcoming, either. It would upset the present balance that permits Red China and Russia to help North Vietnam. It would entail taking action to stop that aid.

It would mean getting tough with other countries that send supplies into North Vietnamese harbors.

It would mean upsetting East-West trade and diplomatic relations.

'Should' And 'Must'

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

The words "should" and "must" made and make a lot of difference.

The President asked the State Department to draft the message he wanted to read to Congress. He thought the first draft was too wishy-washy. He sent it back. Then he got the second version.

It said letting communism gobble up one country after another would jeopardize this country's national security by endangering world peace and weakening other still - free countries' will to resist.

The President thought this was the key sentence: "I believe it should be the policy of the United States to support free peoples who are resisting attempted subjugation by armed minorities or outside pressures."

He didn't like that word "should." It was too 'half - hearted,' he felt. He scratched it out and wrote in "must.'

Then, 20 years ago Sunday the President, Harry S. Truman, read to Congress a message which asked $400 million in economic aid to Greece and Turkey and changed American foreign policy.

ISOLATIONISM was abandoned and the United States, assuming leadership of the non - Communist world, understood commitments that involved it around the globe, and still do, in economic aid and even war.

The latest example of both is Vietnam, where President Johnson repeatedly has said American involvement is for the sake of American national security.

At that time in 1947, when the Truman doctrine was first stated, Moscow was pressuring Turkey and Greece was near collapse under the onslaughts of Communist guerrillas. Truman's decision was not something long thought out.

It was sudden, made necessary when Britain, weakened by World War II, informed this country on Feb. 21 it couldn't even help Greece any further. There was no time to waste.

With the help of his top advisers, Truman made his decision, one of the most important in American history, got his message written and read it to Congress by March 12.

But in 1947 the full implications of the Truman Doctrine were not as clear as later. At that time the Soviet Union was the only great danger. It wasn't until two years later that the Communists took over China.

In the beginning American policy sought to "contain" the Soviets. The Truman Doctrine was followed quickly by the Marshall Plan of economic aid for Europe and then by the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, the military alliance to protect Western Europe.

As history unfolded, American obligations spread with treaties around the world, including Asia.

This country has not always adhered rigidly to the Truman Doctrine, which said it "must" be the policy of the United States to support free people who are resisting attempted subjugation by armed minorities or outside pressure.

THERE HAVE been times where it may have felt it "should" but did nothing. In 1948, under Truman, it did not intervene when Communists took over Czechoslovakia, making it a Soviet satellite. It did not intervene in 1956 when Soviet troops crushed the Hungarian revolt against communism. Nor has it stepped in directly to get rid of Fidel Castro in Cuba.

But it did step in when communism tried to take over South Korea. It made Stalin back down when he tried his Berlin blockade. It intervened in the Dominican Republic to prevent a Communist take - over. And it is in Vietnam.

But debate which began in Truman's time—over 'should' and "must" — continues, more so than ever, in Vietnam where a lot of American opinion is against any involvement at all.

It Really Works

The familiar saying, "An apple a day keeps the doctor away," may not be all wrong, according to a Canadian dietitian.

Dr. J. M. R. Beveridge, president of Arcadia University, told a group of growers that studies are revealing apples "provide a substance having both prophylactic and therapeutic powers."

In a recent test, a group of students ate two or three apples a day and results indicate they suffered from fewer upper respiratory and tension disorders.

Dr. Beveridge urged a stepped-up program of research into the value of apples and other farm products beyond that of supplying food calories.

A positive finding in such a research project would bring new respect to another well-known adage, "How do you like those apples?!"

You Can't Lose!

By Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON

The debate on Vietnam has been escalating along with the fighting, and now it's rare to go to a party and not get into a hot fight over what we should or should not be doing there.

Art Buchwald

Prof. Heinrich Applebaum, the military analyst of Seventeen magazine, has just written a book titled "How to Fight the Vietnam War in the Living Room."

It is the only book written for both doves and hawks. And I was happy to interview him about it the other day.

"This war will not be won in the rice paddies of the Mekong Delta, but rather in the salons and renovated basements of the American home," Applebaum told me.

"How does one start a discussion on the Vietnamese war?"

"The best way is to say 'I agree we shouldn't have been there in the first place, but . . . ' It's a perfect opener if you're a hawk and it shows you're willing to concede that the government has made mistakes."

"And if you're a dove?"

"YOUR OPENING line should be 'I'm not for just pulling out and leaving South Vietnam in the lurch, but . . . ' This should prove to your listeners that you're a man of reason and you're not going to get emotional about the issue."

"As a hawk, what should you do next?"

"Mention Munich, the domino theory and our commitment to the free world, not necessarily in that order."

"And if you're a dove?"

"Talk about the stupidity of the French, the naivete of John Foster Dulles and the right for people to have their own revolutions without outside interference from the United States."

"How do you follow it up?"

"You have to quote sources. If you're a hawk, you quote Joe Alsop, Bob Hope, Cardinal Spellman, Barry Goldwater and Time magazine. If you're a dove, you refer to Walter Lippmann's last column, speeches by Sen. Fulbright and Robert F. Kennedy and testimony by Gen. Gavin, Robert Lowell and Joan Baez. Even if they didn't say something, you can always claim they did. No one in the living room is going to be able to check up on you."

"DON'T YOU QUOTE President Johnson, Secretary Dean Rusk or Robert McNamara?"

"It's hardly worth it. Neither the hawks nor the doves believe anything the people in our government tell them."

"Outsiders always know more," I agreed.

"Now if you see the argument is running down, you can always refer to a book you read on Vietnam. People are very impressed with anyone in the crowd who has read a book and it shows you've gone deeper into the subject than anyone else in the room."

"Any special book?"

"The best one is a title that no one has ever heard of, particularly if it's been written by someone with a foreign name. It will make the other side mad and he'll have to come up with a book of his own."

"It gets harder as you go along," I said.

"The important thing is to speak with authority and pretend to know what you're talking about."

"But suppose you lose the argument?"

"You can always punch the guy in the nose."

Cotton Corners

By Truman Twill

Dear Nephew: Your aunt and I drove out to the sugar camp this afternoon and want to report all is well. The good old world has come through another winter in good condition.

We cannot say the same for people.

We've never seen more human wreckage in the wake of winter, nor morale more severely shattered. But Mother Earth is in great shape.

If all of us micro-organisms vanished overnight, the old matriarch would keep careening through infinity beyond any span of time that can be measured. She'd never miss us.

I think of this often.

It is good mental therapy for what your aunt and I call the glums. Everybody gets them.

When the world looks like the worst of all possible places to be, remember you're doing it no favor by being here. You'd never be missed if you went away—not as far as the world is concerned.

We sometimes get the idea the red ant had while riding through the rapids on a 40-foot log—that we are doing the whole thing by ourselves and things had better be done our way or we'll jump off.

Better think twice about jumping.

This is the best of all possible worlds. We may not like it, but it's the best we can have. We can't do comparative shopping.

Out in the sugar grove, the birds are busy. In the sky overhead, hawks are circling. Rabbits and squirrels are scurrying.

In the waterlogged ground, worms were busy. In their burrows, groundhogs are still drowsy, but soon they will be busy. Everything in nature will be busy.

Men, of course, are being busy, too, in their various ways. A great many of them are busy killing one another this spring, which isn't noteworthy, because men have been killing one another more springs than not.

It seems too, if men were standing before the ultimate tribunal along with all other men who have been guilty of doing the same thing and a spokesman was explaining the justification for human slaughter mankind would see how absurd it is to think slaughter has anything to do with improving the earth.

Mother Earth couldn't care less whether her unruly human tenants live or die. She has seen other unruly tenants obliterate one another in this time. Man are just one more phase in the timeless tolerance of our planet.

If we continue to destroy one another, that's the way it will be with us. We'll disappear.

When we went to the sugar camp this afternoon, we were having the glums. We had just read that the other side in Vietnam had set a new record of 1,617 casualties of Americans in one week—222 dead and 1,381 mutilated bodies. Our side had killed and mutiliated even more combatants on the other side, to say nothing of uncounted noncombatants burned to death, blown to death and mangled by our ultra-efficient machinery of extermination and mutilation.

The good earth couldn't care less. Life goes on with or without us. Without us, the earth would be infinitely more serene.

Freshly Cut

Like Popeye the Sailor, chemists studying photosynthesis owe a lot to spinach.

Using freshly - cut spinach, scientists at the University of California have almost exactly duplicated in the laboratory the long-mysterious life process known as photosynthesis.

In photosynthesis, the green chlorophyll in plants converts sunlight and chemicals into food, energy, and oxygen, the National Geographic Society says. All of the earth's living things — both plant and animal — depend directly or indirectly on the process.

In their study of spinach, the California chemists use an ordinary blender to convert the leaves into juice. The juice is then whirled in a centrifuge to separate the individual cells. From these cells are extracted the chloroplasts, or cell organs, in which photosynthesis actualiy takes place. Separation of the chloroplasts enables the scientists to investigate photosynthesis apart from the other chemical reactions that normally occur in the cells.

Placed in a special solution, the chloroplasts derived from spinach begin photosynthesis whenever exposed to light.

Reds Vanish

By Victor Riesel

Unions Oust Old Pros

SAN DIEGO — After trekking across the nation, this inquisitive newsman can report that the Reds are a disappearing tribe—inside labor.

They are, in fact, almost extinct. Where they led some 2.5 million people in tough, strategically placed unions only 16 years ago, this brand of militant left winger today leads, but does not control, some 200,000 duespayers.

Victor Riesel

Back in 1949-50 a labor lawyer by the name of Arthur J. Goldberg acted as "prosecutor" against the leadership of 11 mass unions. The court was the labor movement itself. The "dependents" were those with adherence to a pro-Communist line. Union after union was expelled.

Today there are only two of these organizations operating under a somewhat worried leadership.

Last January marked the end of the long trail for this brand of unionism. Some had disappeared as hundreds of thousands of American working people rejected the constantly peddled propaganda of champions of the Soviets and the Maoists. Union membership changed so much in age and character that the United Steelworkers on Jan. 17 absorbed the once turbulently left-wing Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers. It had dwindled to 28,000 members in the U.S.

THE TEAMSTERS took in the tiny American Communications Association (one of those ousted in 1950) and turned it into a communications division.

This left but the United Electrical Workers with only some 140,000 of its original half million members and the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union (ILWU) led by the gruff devotee of the Soviets and the National Liberation Front, Harry Bridges. (The latter may yet merge with the AFL-CIO's East and Gulf Coast longshoremen.) With headquarters in San Francisco, he has some 60,000 followers on this coast ranging north to the border into Alaska and over to Hawaii.

But 'Arry, the once terrible Mr. Bang of the bloody San Francisco waterfront strikes, now is an older, more sedate, more cautious radical. And like all men who must live by their shrewd political wits, Bridges appears to be a devotee of the polls.

He wants to know what his membership is thinking and he is sufficiently wise to know that he just doesn't know—because the rank and file is changing so swiftly, growing younger while so many labor leaders grow older and more distant from the people they lead.

SO BRIDGES and his comrades in the west coast longshoremen's leadership have devised a most unique poll and dispatched it to all members. The point, it can be presumed, is not to wait until the membership dispatches the officers into limbo because the twains rarely meet.

"In order to chart the union's course at the April convention," said the covering memo, "we want to find out what you and the other members of the ILWU are thinking about the union and its program.

". . . As we all know, the union is changing rapidly. Many old timers are no longer around and more will be leaving shortly. There are many new members and new leaders are emerging in every local. . . ."

Then follows the most unique questionnaire in labor history. The first, for example, asks whether the rank and file believes the union is 'fine' the way it is or whether it could and should be doing a lot more, or whether the member thinks he or she "can do just as well without the ILWU, and if I had my choice, I wouldn't belong."

And then there is question nine which actually asks if the member voted for Ronald Reagan or Pat Brown—in itself an admission the union might not have been able to swing its people against the one man who took them all on and beat them.

In queston 8 of the 23 queries, the poll asks whether "the ILWU in the best interests of its members should identify with the Democratic or Republican parties or stay independent."

"What happens," one labor chap asked, "if Harry does not get the answer he seeks?"

THERE ARE questions on membership meetings—should they be voluntary or compulsory, or are they a "waste of time"?

And Brother Bridges goes away out on the main sail by asking "in regard to democracy within the ILWU, check which statement reflects your opinion: The leaders of the ILWU always listen to and obey the instructions and wishes of the members. The leaders ignore the members as often as they listen to them. The leaders seldom listen to the members. And the ILWU is run by a bunch of bureaucrats who never listen."

By asking a sharp question, Bridges invites a sharp answer. That doesn't worry him.

What he wants to know is how to stay atop the trends of the times. That's how his tribe survived.

Doctors quit smoking

CHICAGO — According to a University of Chicago National Opinion Research Center survey, 52% of American doctors do not smoke. Many quit recently due, according to the Anti-Tobacco Center of America, to the conclusive evidence linking cigarettes and lung cancer.

Many doctors gave up smoking without use of will power thanks to a new booklet which explains how to progressively eliminate the need for nicotine and, as a result, the desire to smoke. Thanks to this booklet, many thousands of heavy smokers have already stopped smoking.

Crucible Reports 16% Boost In Income During Past Year

The Crucible Steel Co.'s consolidated net income in 1966 was 16 per cent higher than in 1965 and the best in a decade, according to the company's annual report issued today.

Earnings of $12,420,000, or $2.92 per share, compared with $10,694,000 or $2.53 per share the year before. Consolidated net sales in 1966 were $319,743,000, a new record for the third consecutive year.

Factors contributing to the increased earnings included greater efficiency of operations, a consistently high level of production, expanded markets for specialty steels and a fundamental change in Crucible's product mix, officials said.

"This change involves the substitution of higher - price, higher - margin, specialty steels for the steels which, over the years, have become less profitable," Crucible President Joel H. Hunter said. "It has required careful planning and implementation; it is, in fact, continuing and can be expected to have an effect which will be permanent and lasting."

During 1966, Crucible announced its new continuous integrated process for the production of stainless and alloy steels. Facilities for the process, now under construction at the Midland Works, include a revolutionary multi - million-dollar plant housing the continuous casting machine; two new top - blown oxygen converters to refine molten metal by blowing oxygen through it, and a vacuum degassing unit.

"This is far and away the largest project ever undertaken by the company; indeed it is perhaps the most advanced and comprehensive facility ever undertaken in the specialty steel industry," the report stated.

The process, which will produce stainless steel from iron to slab in approximately 2½ hours, is expected to increase yields and lower production costs without sacrificing quality. Construction of the new facilities will be completed about the middle of 1968, according to the report.

Another major development in 1966 was the expansion of the company's research and development activities in the new 1½-acre Hunter Research Laboratories in Pittsburgh. An annual budget of more than $3 million is involved in carrying out programs including improvement in methods of processing steels, development of new products, material evaluation and special equipment design.

"As we move into 1967, we hear of some hesitation in certain sectors of the economy," President Hunter stated in the report, "but Crucible's internal information indicates a continued high level of demand for specialty steels. Our unfilled orders are substantially above a year ago. We should have another good years for Crucible."

Work Will Begin On College Units At Steubenville

STEUBENVILLE, Ohio—Contracts have been signed for the construction of additions to two dormitories and the dining hall on the campus of the College of Steubenville at a cost of $687,000.

Work will be started immediately by the Robert A. Gribben Construction Co. of Steubenville. It is expected the buildings will be completed by the opening of the fall semester. Joseph F. Bontempo of Rochester, Pa., is the architect.

The project was made possible by a loan of $575,000 from the Department of Housing and Urban Development. The balance will be privately financed from college funds.

Included in the construction will be the addition of a third floor to the split - level St. Francis Hall for men, adding 38 rooms and quarters for 76 men to the present housing of 100.

Marian Hall for women, also of split - level design, will have a third floor addition of 45 rooms, bringing the capacity of the dormitory to 190.

Police Officer Named To Assist At Industry

Jesse Kinney of the Industry-Fairview Rd. has been named temporary, part - time patrolman in Industry Borough, Mayor Steve Suchanec, announced today.

Kinney will substitute for Patrolman James LeFebvre, who is off work temporarily because of illness. Suchanec said the appointment will also help during Police Chief Ray Hendershot's absence.

U.S. Copters Taken Out Of Thailand

WASHINGTON (AP) — A unit of 25 U.S. Air Force helicopters has been withdrawn from Thailand after turning over to Thai pilots the job of airlifting Thai forces against Communist insurgents.

Assignment of American helicopters last year to ferry Thai troops into counterinsurgency operations aroused some concern. Some American observers felt it might be an indicator that the United States was slipping into a Vietnam-type situation in Thailand.

U.S. officials insisted all along that the commitment of American helicopters to help the Thai forces was a temporary measure until Thailand's own pilots could be trained to handle the task themselves.

The Defense Department said, in response to an inquiry, that the U.S. helicopter unit of squadron size had been sent recently to Vietnam after completing its work in Thailand.

The United States is supplying some 50 H34 helicopters to the Thai military under a stepped-up aid program. It is training Thai pilots at Fort Rucker, Ala., and Shephard Air Force Base in Texas.

Another major development in 1966 was the expansion of the company's research and development activities in the new 1½-acre Hunter Research Laboratories in Pittsburgh. An annual budget of more than $3 million is involved in carrying out programs including improvement in methods of processing steels, development of new products, material evaluation and special equipment design.

"As we move into 1967, we hear of some hesitation in certain sectors of the economy," President Hunter stated in the report, "but Crucible's internal information indicates a continued high level of demand for specialty steels. Our unfilled orders are substantially above a year ago. We should have another good years for Crucible."

Work Will Begin On College Units At Steubenville

STEUBENVILLE, Ohio—Contracts have been signed for the construction of additions to two dormitories and the dining hall on the campus of the College of Steubenville at a cost of $687,000.

Work will be started immediately by the Robert A. Gribben Construction Co. of Steubenville. It is expected the buildings will be completed by the opening of the fall semester. Joseph F. Bontempo of Rochester, Pa., is the architect.

The project was made possible by a loan of $575,000 from the Department of Housing and Urban Development. The balance will be privately financed from college funds.

Included in the construction will be the addition of a third floor to the split - level St. Francis Hall for men, adding 38 rooms and quarters for 76 men to the present housing of 100.

Marian Hall for women, also of split - level design, will have a third floor addition of 45 rooms, bringing the capacity of the dormitory to 190.

U.S. Copters Taken Out Of Thailand

WASHINGTON (AP) — A unit of 25 U.S. Air Force helicopters has been withdrawn from Thailand after turning over to Thai pilots the job of airlifting Thai forces against Communist insurgents.

Assignment of American helicopters last year to ferry Thai troops into counterinsurgency operations aroused some concern. Some American observers felt it might be an indicator that the United States was slipping into a Vietnam-type situation in Thailand.

U.S. officials insisted all along that the commitment of American helicopters to help the Thai forces was a temporary measure until Thailand's own pilots could be trained to handle the task themselves.

The Defense Department said, in response to an inquiry, that the U.S. helicopter unit of squadron size had been sent recently to Vietnam after completing its work in Thailand.

The United States is supplying some 50 H34 helicopters to the Thai military under a stepped-up aid program. It is training Thai pilots at Fort Rucker, Ala., and Shephard Air Force Base in Texas.

OEA May Set Back 'Sanction' Plan

By WILLIAM V. MERRIMAN
Review Staff Correspondent

COLUMBUS, Ohio — It's a long time from December to April.

The Ohio Education Association's Delegate Assembly apparently imagined so last Dec. 3 when it gave the Ohio General Assembly until April 1 to do something about more dollars for the state's schools — or else.

If the legislative ball wasn't rolling by then, the delegates resolved, the OEA executive committee should call a statewide meeting to "discuss the prevailing educational conditions and make further recommendations."

THREATENED recommendations included notification to new and out-of-state teachers "that Ohio is providing an inferior quality education" and a placement bureau to help teachers in the Buckeye State find "higher-salaried jobs elsewhere —the unpleasant word, "sanctions."

April 1? They must have been fooling, some legislators are saying.

"Well, April sounded a long way off last December," opined State Sen. Oliver Ocasek, D-Northfield, a member of the association's executive committee.

Opposed to the early deadline from the beginning, Ocasek was reminding last week that "legislating is a slow business."

Today he and Sen. Walter E. Powell, R-Fairfield, another OEA executive committeeman, will be saying the same thing when the committee gathers here to contemplate calling the delegates for the April meeting.

Their arguing points for setting the meeting back to May or June will be substantial.

—:—

THEY COULD begin by pointing out that the delegates themselves asked Gov. James A. Rhodes to form a super committee to review findings of the Ohio School Survey Commission, Ohio Tax Study Commission and the State Department of Education's School Reorganization Committee.

The task of drafting school legislation was assigned to the super committee — by the delegates originally — and the committee has yet to hold its first meeting.

Reason No. 2 for canceling the April get-together:

Because the legislature has channeled its early efforts toward placement of the Ohio Bond Commission and a legislative reapportionment plan before the voters, other major pieces of legislation have been pushed back.

Just in the past two weeks has the General Assembly received bills on traffic safety, judicial reorganization, county bidding restrictions and others.

John Hall, chief OEA liaison in the Statehouse, said the other day he can't remember another session in which big education bills were so late in appearing.

YET TO come is the main package, which will contain provisions for school district reorganization, revisions and increases in the school foundation program and major changes in local district tax structure.

Thirdly, delegates must remember that money for education must fit into an over-all state budget, which traditionally and practically isn't completed before summer.

Two years ago the appropriation bill adding $103 million to the foundation formula didn't clear its final legislative hurdle until Aug. 10.

Finally, the Rhodes administration quite obviously isn't talking more dollars until its bond commission porposal is voted on.

Voter approval of the commission could make quite a difference for local school districts. At least some legislators think so.

Republican lawmakers deliberated at length on a plan to authorize the bond commission to assume the financial burden for capital improvements in local school districts. Their thinking — unheeded for the moment — was that the millage now going to finance local school bond issues could be diverted into operating expenses — to be used to raise teachers' salaries, for one thing.

—:—

SUCH AN arrangement, of course, could tone down local property taxpayers' clamoring for more help from the state.

It's still in the works, too, and might be included in enabling legislation if the bond commission is approved as a constitutional amendment.

Despite evidence for delaying threatened sanctions, many lawmakers are well aware of the reasons why teachers are finding it difficult to remain patient.

For one thing contracts for next school year are going out now. Waiting until May to consider imposing sanctions could be too late, since teachers don't want to wait that long to make plans for next year.

Second, though the governor in his budget message two weeks ago made education the administration's No. 1 priority, his tentative budget provided only for a $47 million increase — a natural hike which really doesn't represent any more money.

Mounting frustration is another factor. The OEA's figures show the average salary for teachers in Ohio is well below those in surrounding states.

Promise for better things to come back in 1955 didn't come true when the legislature revamped the foundation formula but didn't put any more money in it.

—:—

THE GENERAL Assembly in 1947 provided no more money for schools and though the 1959 session came up with $350 million in additional revenue, only $22 million went for schools.

In 1961 the legislature added only $16.8 million and two years later it gave schools no more.

The last Assembly increased state school aid by $103 million, but nearly everyone is agreed more is needed.

The OEA's John Hall has all kinds of figures which show Ohio's teachers are hurting financially. One chart from Bowling Green State University listing starting salaries for last year's education college graduates indicates starting salaries in Ohio were $200 under Michigan, $700 under California.

One BGSU grad started for $6,500 in another state. In all Ohio, only 19 per cent of the state's teachers have the chance to reach that figure — no matter how long they teach in their present districts.

Almost beyond doubt, the legislature is going to do something to reverse this.

Ocasek, for one, is optimistic that more dollars are on the way. But not before summer.

Liverpool Twp. Trustees Slate Road Plan Talks

A meeting of the trustees with Columbiana County Engineer John Ursu and the county commissioners Thursday was announced during a meeting of the Liverpool Township Trustees Friday night at the Little Building.

The trustees will meet at the Courthouse in Lisbon at 1:15 p.m. to discuss plans about the 1967 bituminous road program for the township.

Delegates from the Campbell's Rd. area asked that something be done about the condition of the road. Their trustees also will meet with the commissioners.

A delegation from the 5th Ave., LaCroft area asked that the road be re-done and an alley in the vicinity be opened for use.

Rod Goodyear of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co. attended the meeting and discussed the possibility of using calcium chloride for the roads during the summer months instead of oil.

The next meeting will be March 24 at the Little Building, with Guy Digman, chairman, in charge.

Charles Smart, Ohio Novelist, Dies At Age 62

CHILLICOTHE, Ohio (AP)— Charles Allen Smart, son of a Cleveland magazine editor and great-grandson of the "Dun" of Dun & Bradstreet, inherited a Chillicothe farm years ago.

The legacy from his aunt brought him to this area and led him to his greatest prominence in a career as a novelist.

And here the author of "RFD," a 1938 best seller on farm life for city people, died Saturday. He was 62 and had been ill for some time.

"RFD," drawn from his own experiences on his aunt's farm, was one of several books by Smart. Writer in residence at Ohio University in the late 1950s and early 1960s, he wrote as his last work "Viva Juarez."

The writer's late father, George Smart, was editor of "Iron Age" in Cleveland, where Charles was born. His great-grandfather, George W. Dun, was a founder of the famed firm which lists several million companies and individuals in the United States and Canada and credit ratings of each.

Ward Funeral Home here is handling memorial arrangements for Smart, who died in Chillicothe Hospital and leaves his widow, Margaret.

Traffic Safety Slogan Deadline Is Extended

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Deadline for entries in the Ohio Traffic Safety Slogan-Essay contest has been extended to March 31, Safety Director Warren C. Nelson reported Saturday.

He said the extension resulted from recent bad weather which officials feel may have prevented many school children and rural residents from mailing entries.

Ohio 5-Day Forecast

Temperatures Tuesday through Saturday will average near normal except south where readings will be a few degrees lower. Daytime highs should range from near 40 extreme north to the lower 50s extreme south; nighttime lows from the mid 20s extreme north to near 30 central and the lower 30s south. Cool early part of period, warming briefly then colder end of week. Precipitation will average about .25 inch melted, occurring as showers about Thursday and a few snow flurries the following day.

Hayes Stresses Service Of Osteopathic Physician

The typical family doctor of the 1980's probably will be an osteopathic physician rather than a medical doctor.

This is the view of Dr. John W. Hayes of East Liverpool, president of the American Osteopathic Association.

Dr. Hayes offered the observation during a speech Saturday in Atlantic City at the 66th annual convention of the New Jersey Association of Osteopathic Physicians.

He based his prediction on what he said was the continuing practice of specialization among medical doctors.

He pointed out that 75 per cent of osteopathic physicians are either "totally or partially involved in general medicine" while 67 per cent of doctors of medicine are full-time specialists.

Dr. Hayes also said the number of patients under the care of osteopathic physicians is out of proportion to the size of the profession itself.

"Although only 5 per cent of all American doctors are osteopathic physicians, they treat an estimated 20 million patients a year, or about 10 per cent of the population," he said.

Dr. Hayes said a report by the American Medical Association showed that osteopathic physicians equal or outnumber medical doctors in 106 counties in 19 states.

'DeMolay Week' Proclaimed Here

Today through Saturday has been proclaimed "DeMolay Week" here by Mayor George Willshaw.

In issuing the proclamation, the mayor reminded of the "seven cardinal virtues" which guide the organization — reverence, filial love, patriotism, courtesy, cleanness, fidelity and comradeship.

He pointed to the community service the DeMolays have performed on behalf of various charitable enterprises.

Those interested in joining Harding Chapter here may obtain petitions from any member or from the three counselors — Clyde Gaston, Harry Brokaw or Dan DuPont.

'Thousands' Are Killed In China Clashes

HONG KONG (AP) — Several thousand people were killed or wounded in rural areas of Kwangtung Province when Communist troops opened fire on workers and peasants who refused to go back to work, a Hong Kong newspaper reported today.

The Chinese-language New Life Evening Post said travelers arriving from Kwangtung, across the border from Hong Kong, reported bloody clashes between army troops and workers and farmers in Fatshan, Po An, Nang Hai and Shun Ta.

The most severe clashes, the paper said, occurred in Fatshan and Nang Hai where workers and farmers refused to go back to "the production line."

One arrival said "bodies were scattered along the Fatshan highway. The casualties could run into thousands."

The paper said 300,000 troops are now in Kwangtung Province, and many people in Canton expect the number to be doubled shortly to "put down the rebellious workers and peasants."

"Many workers at Fatshan shouted 'go home, northern troops.'"

The paper said it was impossible to get a complete story on the fighting but the scanty reports brought out by visitors from Red China indicated the clashes were serious.

It was the second recent report of serious disturbances in Fatshan.

Living In Secluded Retirement

Mr. K, Molotov Emerge From Obscurity To Vote

MOSCOW (AP) — Two old men who once were among the Soviet Union's most powerful politicians — Nikita S. Khrushchev and Vyacheslav M. Molotov — emerged from obscurity Sunday to vote in a legislative election.

Consigned, to what Khrushchev used to call "the dust bin of history," the two former adversaries have been living in the secluded retirement the Kremlin's post-Stalin leadership reserves for its political losers. Their public appearances are rare, and they are seldom mentioned in the Soviet press.

Khrushchev drew a friendly crowd of at least 1,000 at a polling station near his Moscow apartment. It was his biggest public turnout since he was ousted in 1964.

Thin, subdued and looking his 72 years, Khrushchev smiled back at his greeters, touched his homburg hat in a familiar gesture, and said of his reception, "It's very nice."

Asked if he had any message for the world, he said simply, "Let there be peace."

Molotov was virtually ignored as he voted at a polling place near the Kremlin. Once Stalin's right-hand man, Molotov was premier in 1930-31 and foreign minister in 1939-49 and again in 1953-56. Khrushchev ousted him 10 years ago.

Molotov, 77, smiled thinly and walked slowly. He wore his customary rimless glasses, a hat, white muffler and gray coat, and was accompanied by his wife.

Both Molotov and Khrushchev voted for Khrushchev's successor as premier, Alexei N. Kosygin, who was running for the Parliament of the Russian federation, the Soviet Union's largest state.

Khrushchev seemed surprised by the surging crowd, which forced him and his wife, Nina, to enter the polling station by a side entrance.

They both said they were in excellent health.

Asked how he liked retirement, Khrushchev answered, "At my age it is impossible to work."

Khrushchev's 20-minute appearance was not announced in advance. But he had voted at the same place last June, and people expected him again.

"Hello, Nikita Sergeyevich," they called. "Malodyets, malodyets" (good man) was heard from some. "May you live many more years," one said.

"I read, I rest," Khrushchev said when asked how he spent the days. He spends most of his time at a country home outside Moscow.

Three Unions Warn LBJ On Viet Shipping

NEW YORK (AP) — Three major maritime unions have sent a telegram to President Johnson saying they will refuse to sail ships to Vietnam if the government does not stop employing foreign seamen on U.S.-flag ships.

The telegram, sent last Friday and made public Sunday night, called the use of foreign seamen "illegal, immoral and dangerous."

The message was signed by Joseph Curran, president of the National Maritime Union, representing unlicensed seamen; Jesse M. Calhoon, president of the Marine Engineers Beneficial Association, and Capt. Lloyd W. Sheldon, president of the International Organization of Masters, Mates & Pilots.

The telegram followed an earlier protest by Curran about carrying aid supplies between Taiwan and Saigon on two ships that were recently transferred from the Chinese Nationalist flag to United States registry. They sailed with a Chinese crew, under a waiver.

Federal agencies said later they had blocked the operation after discovering that no American officers were on the ship.

The telegram to Johnson blamed the use of foreign nationals instead of "citizen seamen" on Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

Says He Hasn't Enriched Self

New Hearings Launched On Dodd's 'Misconduct'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate ethics committee opens a second round of hearings today on misconduct charges against Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, who insists "I have not enriched myself from public office."

The bipartisan committee declined to announce witnesses in advance. Nor would it say if it had been able to reach a last-minute agreement with the Connecticut Democrat to stipulate without testimony various factual matters concerning his disputed finances.

In the absence of such a stipulation, committee sources said the hearings are likely to run for three or four weeks.

The principal charge against Dodd, now serving his second Senate term, is that he used upwards of $100,000 in campaign funds for personal expenditures.

The reopened inquiry follows by less than two weeks the House's refusal to seat Adam Clayton Powell for his alleged misconduct in spending congressional funds and keeping his wife on the payroll illegally.

The committee said its inquiry also would cover travel expenses collected by Dodd and the propriety of his "acceptance and use of automobiles loaned by a Connecticut contractor."

The white-haired senator took to the Senate floor last Friday to denounce the charges against him made by columnists Drew Pearson and Jack Anderson a year ago.

"I have not enriched myself from public office," he said. "Indeed, the contrary is the fact.

Dodd said that in 1961-65 he received about $170,000 from testimonial affairs arranged by friends without his encouragement and had used $140,000 of this to pay off debts incurred in his political races.

Dodd said the $30,000 balance was far exceeded by the cost of holding office since he first was elected to the Senate in 1958.

He described the income from these testimonials as tax-free gifts which he could use as he saw fit. He defended such affairs as a means of enabling office-holders "to liquidate political debts and to cover the sometimes very high cost of office."

The committee indicated in advance it would explore in detail how funds were raised for Dodd, the avowed purpose, the intent of the donors and the use to which the money was put.

Living In Secluded Retirement

Mr. K, Molotov Emerge From Obscurity To Vote

MOSCOW (AP) — Two old men who once were among the Soviet Union's most powerful politicians — Nikita S. Khrushchev and Vyacheslav M. Molotov — emerged from obscurity Sunday to vote in a legislative election.

Consigned to what Khrushchev used to call "the dust bin of history," the two former adversaries have been living in the secluded retirement the Kremlin's post-Stalin leadership reserves for its political losers. Their public appearances are rare, and they are seldom mentioned in the Soviet press.

Khrushchev drew a friendly crowd of at least 1,000 at a polling station near his Moscow apartment. It was his biggest public turnout since he was ousted in 1964.

Thin, subdued and looking his 72 years, Khrushchev smiled back at his greeters, touched his homburg hat in a familiar gesture, and said of his reception, "It's very nice."

Asked if he had any message for the world, he said simply, "Let there be peace."

Molotov was virtually ignored as he voted at a polling place near the Kremlin. Once Stalin's right-hand man, Molotov was premier in 1930-31 and foreign minister in 1939-49 and again in 1953-56. Khrushchev ousted him 10 years ago.

Molotov, 77, smiled thinly and walked slowly. He wore his customary rimless glasses, a hat, white muffler and gray coat, and was accompanied by his wife.

Both Molotov and Khrushchev voted for Khrushchev's successor as premier, Alexei N. Kosygin, who was running for the Parliament of the Russian federation, the Soviet Union's largest state.

Khrushchev seemed surprised by the surging crowd, which forced him and his wife, Nina, to enter the polling station by a side entrance.

They both said they were in excellent health.

Asked how he liked retirement, Khrushchev answered, "At my age it is impossible to work."

Khrushchev's 20-minute appearance was not announced in advance. But he had voted at the same place last June, and people expected him again.

"Hello, Nikita Sergeyevich," they called. "Malodyets, malodyets" (good man) was heard from some. "May you live many more years," one said.

"I read, I rest," Khrushchev said when asked how he spent the days. He spends most of his time at a country home outside Moscow.

Three Unions Warn LBJ On Viet Shipping

NEW YORK (AP) — Three major maritime unions have sent a telegram to President Johnson saying they will refuse to sail ships to Vietnam if the government does not stop employing foreign seamen on U.S.-flag ships.

The telegram, sent last Friday and made public Sunday night, called the use of foreign seamen "illegal, immoral and dangerous."

The message was signed by Joseph Curran, president of the National Maritime Union, representing unlicensed seamen; Jesse M. Calhoon, president of the Marine Engineers Beneficial Association, and Capt. Lloyd W. Sheldon, president of the International Organization of Masters, Mates & Pilots.

The telegram followed an earlier protest by Curran about carrying aid supplies between Taiwan and Saigon on two ships that were recently transferred from the Chinese Nationalist flag to United States registry. They sailed with a Chinese crew, under a waiver.

Federal agencies said later they had blocked the operation after discovering that no American officers were on the ship.

The telegram to Johnson blamed the use of foreign nationals instead of "citizen seamen" on Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

Says He Hasn't Enriched Self

New Hearings Launched On Dodd's 'Misconduct'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate ethics committee opens a second round of hearings today on misconduct charges against Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, who insists "I have not enriched myself from public office."

The bipartisan committee declined to announce witnesses in advance. Nor would it say if it had been able to reach a last-minute agreement with the Connecticut Democrat to stipulate without testimony various factual matters concerning his disputed finances.

In the absence of such a stipulation, committee sources said the hearings are likely to run for three or four weeks.

The principal charge against Dodd, now serving his second Senate term, is that he used upwards of $100,000 in campaign funds for personal expenditures.

The reopened inquiry follows by less than two weeks the House's refusal to seat Adam Clayton Powell for his alleged misconduct in spending congressional funds and keeping his wife on the payroll illegally.

The committee said its inquiry also would cover travel expenses collected by Dodd and the propriety of his "acceptance and use of automobiles loaned by a Connecticut contractor."

The white-haired senator took to the Senate floor last Friday to denounce the charges against him made by columnists Drew Pearson and Jack Anderson a year ago.

"I have not enriched myself from public office," he said. "Indeed, the contrary is the fact.

Dodd said that in 1961-65 he received about $170,000 from testimonial affairs arranged by friends without his encouragement and had used $140,000 of this to pay off debts incurred in his political races.

Dodd said the $30,000 balance was far exceeded by the cost of holding office since he first was elected to the Senate in 1958.

He described the income from these testimonials as tax-free gifts which he could use as he saw fit. He defended such affairs as a means of enabling office-holders "to liquidate political debts and to cover the sometimes very high cost of office."

The committee indicated in advance it would explore in detail how funds were raised for Dodd, the avowed purpose, the intent of the donors and the use to which the money was put.

Gem-Wise
Jewelry fashions, facts, fictions

CARVED GEMS

With the growing popularity of scarab jewelry, there is new interest in all manner of carved gems. Cameos, too, are in the fashion forefront due to the recurrence of the antique jewelry look. There are several materials that are a favorite for gem carvers: carnelian, bloodstone, agate, lapis lazuli, jade and Tiger's eye. Often, scarab bracelets will include each of these gem materials.

Carnelian, agate, bloodstone and tiger's-eye are all members of the Chalcedony family, and take beautifully to either intaglio or bas relief carving. These engraved gem materials were primarily used for three reasons: as an ornament, as seals or signets, or as an amulet or charm.

In early Egypt, the sacred beetle had the same significance as the cross during the Christian era. The scarab was so cherished as a powerful amulet that for a period of about 2000 years, every Egyptian citizen (about seven million) had one or more of these carved gems. That is why there are still so many examples of scarabs in existence today. Since the gem materials used were all sturdy, and enduring, this is another reason why the scarab form has come down intact to our civilization.

The Phoenicians replaced the beetle form with cameo-like satyr heads, although both they and the Greeks continued to carry the beetle form to all parts of the Mediterranean world.

Gem-Wise Jewelry fashions, facts, fictions
By J. A. LOCKE, JR.

CARVED GEMS

With the growing popularity of scarab jewelry, there is new interest in all manner of carved gems. Cameos, too, are in the fashion forefront due to the recurrence of the antique jewelry look. There are several materials that are a favorite for gem carvers: carnelian, bloodstone, agate, lapis lazuli, jade and Tiger's eye. Often, scarab bracelets will include each of these gem materials.

Carnelian, agate, bloodstone and tiger's-eye are all members of the Chalcedony family, and take beautifully to either intaglio or bas relief carving. These engraved gem materials were primarily used for three reasons: as an ornament, as seals or signets, or as an amulet or charm.

In early Egypt, the sacred beetle had the same significance as the cross during the Christian era. The scarab was so cherished as a powerful amulet that for a period of about 2000 years, every Egyptian citizen (about seven million) had one or more of these carved gems. That is why there are still so many examples of scarabs in existence today. Since the gem materials used were all sturdy, and enduring, this is another reason why the scarab form has come down intact to our civilization.

The Phoenicians replaced the beetle form with cameo-like satyr heads, although both they and the Greeks continued to carry the beetle form to all parts of the Mediterranean world.

In Affluent Society On Capitol Hill

20,000-A-Year Jobs Commonplace

WASHINGTON (AP) — A generous Congress has pushed the salaries of its top employes to such levels that the House postmaster makes $550 more yearly than the postmaster of Chicago.

In the affluent society on Capitol Hill, $20,000-a-year jobs are commonplace. There are 494 of them, ranging up to the $28,500 paid to the head doorkeeper of the House — only $1,500 less than a member of Congress gets.

And while Congress talks of whittling down the Great Society programs, there are no signs that an economy wave threatens the spectacular success of its own private war against poverty.

Over-all payroll costs have skyrocketed 84 per cent in the House and 53 per cent in the Senate in the last six years. They are continuing to rise as the staffs of members and committees on both sides of the Capitol steadily expand. The House payroll increase by $6.4 million last year and staff additions just approved by the Senate are expected to increase the payroll 18 per cent. Senate committee costs more than doubled between 1956 and 1966 — climbing from $4.7 million to $9.6 million.

Senate salaries totaled $25.89 million last year. The House total was $46.5 million.

In many cases, the salaries being paid appear to have little relationship to the economics of the market place.

The House postmaster, with less than 100 million pieces of mail to deal with yearly, gets $24,500 a year. Chicago's postmaster, responsible for 6.6 billion pieces, gets $23,950. The Senate, which generates less mail, pays its postmaster $19,636, about $1,000 more than the postmaster gets in Cleveland, where the mail runs to 1.8 billion pieces.

The manager of the bank that keeps accounts for the 435 members in the House gets $20,800 a year; the cashiers, $14,800. Banking sources say the manager of the average small private branch bank makes $10,000 or less and the cashiers' pay ranges from $4,000 to $7,000 The Senate has no bank.

Fed by nearly annual pay raises, protected by patronage and all but screened from public view by formidably inadequate bookkeeping practices, the fat salaries have spread across Capitol Hill.

The shorthand reporters who record debate make $22,000 a year; the men who call the roll and those who record it make $19,200. The Senate chaplain, who reads a brief prayer to open each session, gets $15,880. The House chaplain gets $15,550.

Persons doing routine office work can make as much as $12,000, and messengers nearly $10,000, but at the lower job levels salaries are generally more in line with those outside Congress.

Salaries paid by the senators and representatives to their own staff aides also are more attuned to normal office practices, and the employes put in long hours, frequently working six days a week.

But aside from the members own staffs, many House and Senate employes have duties only when Congress meets. This averages about four days a week, with recesses between annual sessions.

The legislative committees are a major source of the $20,000-and-up jobs. There are 133 of them on Senate committees, 79 on House committees and 14 on joint committees. The ceiling is $25,890 for both House and Senate committee staffs. The Senate boosted its top only last week to match the House.

Each House member is entitled to pay one staffer in his or her own office at the top rate of $20,850, but only 127 of the 435 do so. In the Senate, which has higher allowances, 109 aides get more than $20,000. In addition, the Senate itself has 25 top jobs such as secretary parliamentarian and sergeant-at-arms paying more than $20,000, and the House has seven.

Congressional employes are eligible for the government's pension system under which a person with 30 years' service can retire at a little more than half-pay. Employes contribute 6 per cent of their salary to the pension fund; the government chips in another 6½ per cent.

Without defending all the salaries being paid, some members say that in Washington the demand for people with legislative expertise is so great the employes can command impressive pay. But others shake their heads in despair when they discuss congressional pay scales.

"Everybody around here is being paid too much," says one junior member. "But what can you do about it?"

Most jobs are gained through political friendships and once installed, the jobholder is rarely dislodged. The Rev. Frederick Brown Harris has been Senate chaplain for 22 years.

H. H. Morris, the House postmaster, came to Washington from New Castle, Ky., 35 years ago under the patronage of the late Virgil Chapman, then a Kentucky representative and later a senator. Morris, then assistant postmaster, moved into his present job in 1955.

The House doorkeeper, William (Fishbait) Miller, has been working or the House or 35 years. He became head doorkeeper in 1949, a job that puts him in charge of about 300 people. Miller is the man who ushers in presidents and other dignitaries and introduces them to the House and Senate in joint sessions.

Congress' generosity with taxpayers' money is not limited to its employes. Prodded by the newsmen covering its activities, it has come up with $175,000 or a handsome suite of rooms and studios of radio and television correspondents, and $80,000 to refurbish the press galley — including wall-to-wall carpeting.

Nor is it only through salaries that the House rewards its workers. At an estimated cost of $12.9 million, which undoubtedly will be higher when the final cost is known, two underground garages for employes are nearing completion on Capitol Hill.

The garages have three levels, capable of parking a total of 1,276 cars. With 1,650 spaces tucked into the bottom four levels of the Rayburn Building, 869 places on the Capitol grounds, and 1,892 Senate parking places, there are nearly 6,000 spaces available on Capitol Hill — none of which are open to the thousands of tourists who come to see their Capitol each day. And if the visitors do find a place to leave their cars, they have to pay 25 cents each for a guided tour. This revenue is pooled and divided among the guides, netting each of them about $12,000 a year. A Senate-approved bill pending in the House would eliminate the charge.

3-Way Crash Hurts Woman On W. 8th St.

A Newell woman was injured in a three-car collision Sunday night at 6:57 on W. 8th St. about 60 feet west of Jefferson St., police reported.

Ruth Ann Helms, 25, of 506 Jefferson St., Newell, was taken to City Hospital after a mishap that involved her 1962 compact; a 1960 sedan driven by Esther E. Daniels, 24, of 923 Commerce St., Wellsville, and a 1963 compact operated by Diana L. Mays, 18, of the Y. & O. Rd., officers said.

The Mays girl said she did not know local regulations permit a right turn off W. 8th St. onto Jefferson when the signal at the intersection is red, so she halted for the traffic light. The Daniels woman said the Mays girl halted and she stopped in the rear. Then, she said, her auto was hit by the Helms car and shoved forward into the Mays car.

There was extensive damage to the front of the Helms car, officers said. Patrolman Karl W. Samples investigated.

The Newell woman was treated at the hospital for lacerations of both knees and the chin and a possible back injury.

A mishap on Lisbon St. 75 feet south of Belmar Ave. Saturday at 3:25 p. m. involved a 1961 four - door sedan driven by Thomas E. Graham, 21, of Williams Ave. and a 1957 four-door sedan operated by William J. Fleming, 39, of LaCroft. Graham said he stopped to make a left turn into a store's parking lot and his car was hit from the rear. Fleming said he did not see Graham's turn signal.

Two hit - skip crashes also were reported.

Gary W. Sendling, 20, of Shadyside Ave. said the left side of his 1955 four - door sedan was damaged about 9:55 p.m. Saturday when struck by another auto at Dresden Ave. and Rural Ln.

Sendling said he was headed toward the Diamond when the other car, traveling on his side of the street, struck his car. Sendling said he tried to pull into an alley in an unsuccessful attempt to avoid a collision. He said he halted the other auto, but the driver refused to pay for the damage. He gave police a description of the auto and its license number.

Arthur W. Berkheimer, 27, of Alliance told police his 1956 two - door sedan was damaged heavily on the right side in a hit-skip crash Saturday at 6:31 p.m. on Pennsylvania Ave. at Boyce St.

He said the other auto emerged from Boyce St. and hit his car, causing it to spin around. The other driver proceeded on Park Way at high speed, he said. The investigation is continuing, officers said.

Driver Cited After Mishap

A Salem motorist was cited for drunk driving after his car rammed two parked cars, knocking one of them into a house along Route 30 west of Lisbon Sunday night.

The Highway Patrol at Lisbon said Lamoine J. Oesch, 49, of Salem R. D. 1 suffered minor injuries in the mishap, timed at 10:25 about two miles west of Lisbon.

Oesch lost control of his car when he failed to negotiate a curve. The vehicle went off the right side of the highway and struck the two parked cars. The impact shoved one of the vehicles into the home of Grace Gardner of Lisbon R. D. 4.

Oesch's car was demolished. Minor damage resulted to the home. Officers said the owners of the other two cars have not been determined and the accident still is under investigation.

Oesch was treated at Salem City Hospital for contusions of the back and right arm.

Harold J. Drexler, 45, of Columbiana suffered lacerations of the cheek and scalp after his sports coupe rammed a utility pole along Route 344, a mile west of Columbiana, Saturday at 5:45 p. m.

Officers said Drexler was eastbound when he lost control on a curve. His car was heavily damaged. He was treated at Salem City Hospital.

Bobbie L. Lester, 19, of New Waterford R. D. 1 was cited for driving left of center following a mishap Saturday at 8:30 a. m. on County Rd. 421, four-tenths a mile east of New Waterford.

Officers said Lester fell asleep and his car went off the south side of the road, struck a fence and rolled down an embankment, landing on its wheels. He was treated at Salem City Hospital.

In Brooke County, the raises will amount to $125 to $150 a month voted for commissioners: $5,000 to $6,000 a year for sheriff; the clerk, circuit clerk and assessor were all raised from $4,800 to $6,000 a year and the prosecutor from $4,400 to $5,000 a year.

23 Fatally Hurt In Ohio Traffic

By The Associated Press

Ohio motorists issued a probable forecast for spring weekends to come when they became involved in enough fatal accidents the past weekend for the state to register its highest nonholiday death toll since last autumn.

At least 23 persons were killed between 6 p.m. Friday and midnight Sunday. The figure surpassed the previous 1967 high for a 54-hour weekend, 22.

A quadruple-fatality crash in Jefferson County, triple-fatality smashups in Warren County and Guernsey County, and a double fatality in Lucas County figured heavily in the toll.

Deaths reported since Saturday noon:

Saturday

Mrs. Jean Large, age unknown, Wilmington; her son Craig, 5, and John Adkins, 26, Clarksville, when the auto driven by Mrs. Large's husband Carl—basketball coach at Clinton-Massie High School — and another auto collided at an Ohio 132 intersection just west of the Clinton-Warren county line in Warren County. Large, his 3-year-old daughter and two occupants of the other car were injured.

Alvin D. Lasky, 28, Sciotoville, in a two-car accident on Ohio 125 in Scioto County.

Dale Meyers, 19, Las Vegas, Nev., and Terry Ronning, 18, Superior Wis. sailors whose auto collided with a truck on Ohio 2 at Bono in Lucas County.

Delmas Barrett 18, South Lebanon, in an auto crash near Kings Mills in Warren County.

Ray E. Boucher, 48, Rt. 4 Upper Sandusky, in a head-on collision of vehicles on U.S. 30N west of Bucyrus in Crawford County.

Sunday

Donald G. Elswick, 23, Centerburg, passenger in an auto which hit a concrete bridge abutment on Ohio 95 near Fredericktown in Knox County.

Thurman N. Jackson, 32, Columbus; his passenger, James A. Shimer, 41, San Antonio, Tex., and Samuel E. Pulliam, 50, Cincinnati when Jackson's truck and Pulliam's car collided head-on on U.S. 40 in Guernsey County near the Belmont County line.

Roderick A. Spangler, 29, Orient, Pickaway County, when his auto rammed a parked car in Columbus.

Dewey Solomon, 67, West Jefferson, pedestrian struck by a car as he crossed a road near his home town in Madison County after leaving church.

James F. Debein, 20, Maumee, in a two-car crash in Toledo.

W. Va. School Commission Bill Passed By Legislature

CHARLESTON (AP) — The West Virginia legislature has legalized as well as stripped away some authority of the State Secondary School Activities Commission — object of a long-term feud throughout the state.

The legislature enacted a bill to legalize the SSAC by requiring it to submit its rules and regulations for approval by the State Board of Education.

The SSAC in the past has had control over all extracurricular activities of public high schools. But legislative debate this past session pointed out the SSAC all along has been operating illegally.

Cut from the commission's authority, however, was control over non-athletic and non-band activities — such as dances, debates and speech contests.

The SSAC, made up of member high school principals, will continue to exercise authority over the appearances of high school athletic teams and high school bands.

Sen. William Tompos, D-Hancock, one of the SSAC's arch enemies, charged on the Senate floor last week that the SSAC has all along illegally held more than $100,000 in public funds. This money, Tompos said, was collected by the SSAC from gate receipts of athletic events.

The new law, once signed by Gov. Hulett Smith, actually gives sole authority for extracurricular events to the county school boards. But it allows the boards to delegate the authority over band and athletic activities to the SSAC.

'Shrine Spectacular' Set Wednesday Night

Shriners from Hancock County are among those who will attend a "Shrine Spectacular" Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the auditorium of the Scottish Rite Cathedral at Wheeling.

All units of Osiris Temple will join in the presentation.

Several short films on Shrinedom and the highlights of the East - West football game will be shown between performances. Refreshments will be served in the ballroom immediately following the close of the program.

Admission is free, by invitation only, to all Shriners and their families. Each Shriner is urged to bring a Master Mason friend and his family as a guest.

Board Will Meet

LISBON — Proposed salary increases for teachers and noncertified employes for the next school year will be considered when the Lisbon Board of Education meets at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday in the administration building.

Major Bills Die In W.Va. Legislature

CHARLESTON (AP) — A long list of major legislation died in both houses of the West Virginia legislature either in committee or when time ran out Saturday, but none died as hard a death as the constitution convention bill.

Other major legislation killed included a plan to revamp higher education's administration and a conflict of interest bill.

The Senate hit the convention measure with a double-whammy Saturday night, defeating a last-minute attempt in desperation by the Democratic leadership to vote on the House - passed measure.

Attempts Friday and Saturday to advance the bill to voting stage were handily defeated by the opposition, mainly because of a legislative goof that through parliamentary procedure allowed it to be killed by a mere minority.

The bill was at second amendment stage Saturday night and to advance a bill to another stage on the same day requires a five-fifths vote. Only six votes against it in the Senate would kill the motion.

An attempt to advance the bill Saturday night was defeated 21-13. The night before a similar attempt failed 27-7.

After the vote was taken Saturday night the opposition—led by Minority Leader John E. Carrigan, R-Marshall — sponsored a successful move to reconsider the vote and beat it again.

Lost in the midnight hustle and shuffle of bills between the two houses was a bill intended to exempt certain persons from the state compulsory retirement bill to participate in the $400,000 foster grandparents program.

The bill was the subject of deep controversy earlier in the session after attempts were made to force the retirement of State Health Director N. H. Dyer.

In a state of confusion, the Senate received the bill from the House and proceeded to pass it.

But then Sen. Clarence E. Martin Jr., D-Berkeley, protested that the bill in final form would force the retirement of every state employe — including Dyer, judges and legislative workers—over 70 years old.

The Senate, still unsure of what the bill contained, hurriedly reconsidered the vote in process and killed the measure.

Another House - passed measure — the controversial conflict of interest bill — died silently in the Senate Judiciary Committee.

Ohio River Starts Falling At Cincinnati

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Ohio River was falling here today as the flood waters began to hit various points downstream, covering low-lying areas of western Kentucky and southern Indiana.

About 50 families were routed from their homes in Clark and Floyd counties in Indiana Sunday night. Some roads were closed by high water and some fields were flooded around Owensboro, Ky.

But, the U.S. Army Engineers said in a preliminary report Saturday, the flooding river—from Pittsburgh to Cairo, Ill—already had caused some $35 million damage. Reservoirs and local flood control projects, however, prevented an estimated $123 million more damage, the engineers said.

The Ohio crested here Saturday at 59.8 feet, nearly eight feet above flood stage. The Weather Bureau said it was expected to fall below the 52-foot flood stage here Wednesday morning.

Workers began Sunday night reopening some roads that were closed because of high water. No injuries were reported during the flood here.

The Red Cross said it hoped most of the flood refugees in the Cincinnati area, including northern Kentucky, could be back in their homes by Wednesday.

Mud Adds To Woes Of Lisbon's Firemen

LISBON — The fire department had ordeal by fire and mud Sunday afternoon at a Hunter's Camp Rd. farm north of here.

Answering the season's first grass fire call at 2:50, firemen had the fire out within an hour, but three vehicles got stuck.

A winch truck bogged down pulling them out. The crew got back to the station at 6:30.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Reducing Together—Family Style

Help! We are a family of five fatties. Mrs. 210; Mr. 195; Jr. 225; Sis, age 4, 65 pounds, son, age 2, 35 pounds. Typical menu: Breakfast; ham, grits, eggs. Lunch: Soup, sandwich, dessert. Dinner: Fried chicken, rice, cream gravy, vegetable with bacon, hot biscuits, dessert.

Ida Jean Kain

Can you help us break the lifelong habit of overeating on fattening fare to which my husband and I are addicted?"

To launch Project Streamline, call a family council, enlist the support of all members. Your role: Use culinary skill to plan and prepare good food with fewer calories per forkful. Dad and Junior can take the lead at mealtime to divert attention to exciting events of the day. Challenge each member to come up with some wonderful nonsense. That's more fun than overeating.

TRY TO KEEP the familiar meal pattern, but lower the boom on calories. Breakfast: Citrus fruit, juice or tomato juice; choice: An egg and lean meat, or lean meat and grits, small portion. Or have a hot whole grain cereal served with 2 per cent milk. Limit toast to one slice each, with dietetic jam. Coffee for adults, skim milk for other three.

Lunch: Soup, an open - face sandwich, fruit. Dinner: Broiled or baked lean meat, fish or chicken, rice pilaf, ½ cup, or small potato or biscuit; green leafy or yellow vegetable, 2-3 cup, salad or relish, low-calorie dessert.

Food preparation: In "cream" soups, use skim milk. Garnish with chopped parsley, chives or grated lemon or orange rind. No crackers. Have relish plate, cherry tomatoes, celery, carrot slivers. Open - face sandwich: Lean meat, cheese or leftover chicken. Place filling on slice of bread, lightly buttered, slip under broiler. Or serve cold with Fresh pear, orange or juicy apple.

SWITCH from regular milk to 2 per cent milk, later part skim milk. It's surprising how quickly family members can acquire a taste for less rich milk.

Plan menus and restrict shopping to that list. Buy lean cuts of meat, fat trimmed prior to cooking. Low - calorie gravy: Skim fat from top of cooled drippings before making gravy. Vegetables, cooked quickly in small amount of water. For variation, add mushrooms, bits of cheese, or toasted slivered almonds.

Watch portions. A serving of lean meat; 3 to 4 ounces cooked weight for adults, 5 to 6 ounces cooked fish. Vegetables, 2/3 cup. Serve butter or margarine in half-pat portions.

Desserts: Experiment with low-calorie gelatin puddings and fruit desserts. Buy a tiny scoop to serve ice cream and sherbets. On birthdays, bake an angel food cake.

Invest in a good low-calorie cookbook. A new way of eating can help the family to live happily slim ever after. Talk it over with the family doctor.

Please report.

Bilingual Children

MIAMI (AP) — A second public school is going bilingual in his city with a large colony of Cuban exilés. Pupils at Central Beach Elementary School, which is evenly divided between native speakers of Spanish and English, will receive instruction in all subject areas in both languages starting with the fall term. The program starts at kindergarten level. The idea is to make all pupils bilingual.

Wooden Rake Called Best For Many Clean-up Uses

By DOUGLAS TUOMEY

If you were to make a canvass of all the country and suburban homes throughout the land you would find that everyone owned an iron rake, but only one out of every four owned a wooden rake.

The answer is simply that most home owners do not know how much effective work can be done with a wooden rake.

There is another objection to the wood rake on the part of amateur gardeners. They complain that the teeth break quite easily. Of course when three or four teeth are missing, the rake produces spotty work.

We will dispose of that objection immediately with the information that you can buy a length of dowel-wood for 10 cents and cut all the new teeth you want. The broken end can be driven out of the back of the rake and the new tooth driven into the hole. No glue or nail is necessary.

The wood teeth of the old-fashioned wooden rake clean up leaves and other debris without tearing at grass roots and scratching deep grooves in the ground. The work is soft and gentle and not harsh and racking as with the iron-toothed rake.

When it comes to grading out a pile of dirt or smoothing out a new patch in the lawn, the wood rake is the tool to use. When you want to rake out a roadway, particularly if the topping is blue-stone or graded gravel, the wood rake produces as the iron rake.

The great width of the wood rake, about twice that of the standard iron rake, makes work faster and easier. Buy a wooden rake and be agreeably surprised.

While iron rakes are tough, every experienced groundskeeper knows that they will eventutwice as smooth and even a job ally be broken. Once that happens, they are usually discarded.

One should know that one of these broken-in-half iron rakes makes the most marvelous tool for getting around shrubs and into odd corners. Keep your broken iron rake. It makes an excellent cultivator.

Something Leaking

MIAMI (AP) — The City of Miami has discovered that leaky mains and lines are wasting up to 30 million gallons of water a day. This is almost 25 per cent of the gallonage pumped daily by the water department. Contracts have been let to repair a number of the leaks.

New Globe Facilities Are Speeded

Shown above are the buildings housing the new tunnel kiln under construction at the Globe Brick Co. in Kenilworth, near Newell, in a $3½-million expansion program.

Production at the new facilities is expected to start in June, according to Sidney C. Porter Jr., vice president. The plant covers an area of approximately four acres, equaling in size the older works, he said.

He said the 632-foot kiln may be the longest in existence. Space is provided for two additional kilns of equal size.

Other important units in the new facilities are 150-ton capacity storage silos and 40 - ton hoppers.

The plant's operation will be almost completely automatic, palletizing being the only manual phase required in production, Porter explained.

So dependent are we on electricity that a sudden power failure can leave us helpless.

Worse, not knowing what to do can cause other problems. It is a wise home owner who prepares for the day a storm will leave his house without electricity.

It would be ideal if every home had its own standby power supply, but the cost of a generator is prohibitive — especially when you consider how little it would be used.

Certain supplies which are inexpensive can be kept on hand, however. It is important to know where they are as well as having them. Place them where they are easily found in the dark.

HAVE MORE than one flashlight for portable light supplies. Keep extra dry cells with them. Candles and matches plus a holder of some sort for the candle should be kept handy. This is a dependable and inexpensive light source.

Better yet are lanterns — gasoline, propane or kerosene. A fisherman may already have a gasoline or propane lantern. For the person who otherwise has no need for a lantern, the kerosene lantern is cheap and dependable. A lantern will provide enough illumination for a room.

Once you can find your way around, disconnect major appliances — refrigerators, blowers, air conditioners, pump motors.

Make certain that other heavy electricity users — television sets, hi-fi units, etc. — are not turned on and likely to start operating when power is restored.

The sudden surge of electricity could cause fuses to blow. More important, motors might be damaged if power is restored at lower voltage, which sometimes happens. Motors work faster trying to make up for the missing voltage and the result is burned - out windings and contacts.

If an electric light bulb burns dimly you do not have full power. It will burn brightly when full power is restored.

A POWER failure always brings the danger of spoilage of food stored in freezers and refrigerators. Foods in a freezer will keep for about 36 hours if you refrain from opening the door.

Use foods that do not need refrigerating, or which can be kept on a porch or window sill if the weather is cool. In warm weather, dry ice will keep the contents frozen — something to remember if your freezer ever stops operating for any reason.

If the power is off the heat probably is off, too, since most furnaces use electric motors for blowers, electricity for thermostats. If you depend on electricity for cooking there is another problem.

A propane stove, if you have one, is excellent. Inexpensive are those that use canned heat. Keep outside doors closed if the weather is cold and stay together in one room. A house will cool off slowly if kept closed and the power may be restored before it becomes too cold.

Using a portable barbecue for indoor cooking is dangerous. Use only in a ventilated area, or better yet, outdoors.

Here's Answer To Panel Matter

Question: We had the basement in our house finished about five years ago with a paneling called imitation mahogany. The contractor also put on some kind of finish. Exactly what it was we don't know, but it allowed the grain to show through.

We recently decided to paint the walls a pastel color, but a friend of ours says he doesn't think it will hold if the contractor put on lacquer. We think it was varnish, but we aren't sure. Can you help us?

ANSWER: The problem is not whether the original finish was lacquer or varnish, but how much of a gloss is still on the wood.

Paint will hold well over any clear finish, but it will not cling to a shiny surface. It thus will be necessary for you to dull the glossy areas with sandpaper or steel wool. If the walls are completely glossy, you might want to save some labor by purchasing a liquid product made especially for dulling such surfaces.

It is applied with a brush and, when large areas are involved, is considerably less work than sanding.

Since these are basement walls, it is quite possible that they are covered with dust or other dirt. It might be a good idea to wipe them thoroughly before applying the preparatory liquid.

Your friend, in warning you against the use of paint over lacquer, probably was confused about the reaction of lacquer on paint.

Defense Need Keeping Steel Close To '66

CLEVELAND (AP) — Despite reduced orders from the automotive and appliance industries, miscellaneous orders and continued national defense needs are keeping the production of raw steel only one per cent behind last year's pace, Steel Magazine said today.

The metalworking weekly said that if the current pace is maintained through June, "first half output would total 64 million net tons . . . only about six per cent off the pace of first half 1966."

Market analysts said at the first of the year that "production would be six per cent less than the 1966 record furnace pour of 134.1 million net tons," Steel said. So far, "raw steel production is right on target."

Since automotive and appliance needs make up more than one-fifth the mill shipments of finished steel products annually, Steel said, "production so far this year has been remarkable in the light of depressed automotive and appliance steel buying."

For the week ended March 11, Steel estimated raw steel output at 2,540,000 net tons, "slightly above the 2,528,000 poured in the preceding week."

Steel said the 1966 trend has been "closely paralleled" this year and "current operations are equal to 82 per cent of effective estimated theoretical steelmaking (based on estimated effective annual capacity of 160 million tons). A year ago, the percentage was 86.5."

The magazine said that "steady buying of substantial tonnage for miscellaneous uses, plus continued heavy capital goods requirements, pressing defense needs, and seasonal revival in the construction and canmaking markets" are responsible for keeping steel orders at a high rate.

Steel's composite on No. 1 heavy melting grade scrap remained at $28.17 a gross ton.

Practical And Decorative Storage

Creation of good outdoor storage space is a pressing need in most homes. Even a super-size basement is not substitute for outdoor space, for many things rightfully belong outside the house and are far more usable when stashed near the yard.

Garden tools are a good example. Hauling those up and down basement steps just isn't sensible — even if the item is only a trowel. Any gardener will agree that the job gets done faster and with less fuss when tools are kept right in the yard.

OTHER THINGS that belong outside include some sports equipment — skis and golf clubs, for instance — automotive supplies, and fireplace wood.

Now, where's the best stashing spot? The garage or carport is always a good candidate, providing it's designed for the job. Architects coping with the problem suggest that one wall of the carport be devoted to storage and designed with full-height double - door closets. These can open to the carport's interior or directly to the yard if protected by a roof overhang.

When closests open to the interior, the carport must be larger than standard to accommodate the opened closet doors as well as movement of equipment. A storage wall built at the end requires additional length, while one built along the side demands greater width. Figure a minimum of four feet extra, not including depth of the closets.

For end wall closets, it's also wise to include a side or back doorway to the yard so that equipment can be wheeled in and out without having to move parked cars.

IT'S EASY TO combine high style with practicality in carport storage. Closet doors can be built using handsome, hard-wearing 1-by-4-inch tongue - and-groove western red cedar siding boards.

The siding boards are screwed into Z-shaped braces at the back. Two screws are used per board at each horizontal member of the brace and can be set so that the visible screw heads make a decorative pattern.

Doors can be hung with surface-applied butt hinges and gate latches with padlocks are a simple, sensible solution to hardware.

Ladder's Use Requires Care

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

More important than how well you paint the outside of your house is that you don't wind up in a hospital before you finish the job.

To get a good result involves a combination of proper preparation and adherence to certain fundamentals.

To avoid an accident with a long ladder calls for a similar combination. You have to see that the ladder is placed against the house so that it won't slip. And you have to observe safety precautions so that you won't fall off the ladder while doing the painting.

IF THE BASE of the ladder is the right distance from the foundation of the house, it will be properly balanced.

The "right distance" is one-fourth the length of the ladder. Thus, with a 16-foot ladder, the base should be four feet from the foundation. But this isn't enough to insure safety, especially on ground that is either too soft or too hard.

If the soil is soft, the ladder should rest on a wide, solid board and should be tested thoroughly by standing on the bottom rung and jumping up and down until you are convinced the board will stay put.

If the ladder is resting on concrete or a similar surface, its feet should be equipped with safety treads or one of the other devices which prevent slipping.

Where there is even the slightest doubt about the solidity of the setup, use roof ladder hooks, which fasten onto the high rungs of the ladder and hook over the roof ridge. Also, it's a good idea to use sneakers or rubber-soled shoes, making certain they are not wet or muddy when you climb the ladder.

Now that you've made certain that the ladder will behave itself, make equally certain that you do the same.

Don't stand on the top rung of the ladder. Never go higher than the second step from the top; if possible, don't go higher than the third step from the top. Trouble can be avoided here if the ladder is long enough.

When you begin the actual painting, don't reach out too far on either side of the ladder. Take the extra time to go down the ladder and move it over to the working area.

NEVR TURN your back on the ladder. If that sounds like superfluous advice, it isn't. Many accidents are caused when painters descend without fully facing the ladder.

When working in front of a door, either keep it wide open or lock it, placing the precautionary sign on the inside of the door.

4-Year-Old Boy Turns On Switch And Cars Collide

LISBON — A 4-year - old boy turned on the ignition of a parked car at 4:45 p. m. Sunday on the Square and collided with another car.

Police said Larry Kessler, 25, of Lisbon R. D. 5, angle parked his 1960 station wagon on Nelson Ave., across from Morgan's drugstore, and left his son for a moment.

Tips Are Offered For Obtaining Of Pickled Finish

AP Newsfeatures

Question: We have some old oak furniture on which we plan to remove the old varnish finish. We'd like to put on a pickled finish.

Our elderly uncle says that he remembers this being done with ordinary white paint. But he's not sure of the details, and we don't want to try it until we're sure what we're doing. Can you help us?

ANSWER: The type of finish your relative is referring to must be preceded by a thorough bleaching of the wood. While homemade bleaches were used years ago — and are still being used to a degree— we recommend that you use a good quality commercial bleach, following the directions on the container very carefully. Once this has been done, apply the white paint. Wait about an hour.

Then, using a clean, soft cloth, wipe off the paint, moving the cloth across the grain. This will take off most of the paint, but leave enough of it in the grain to produce the so-called pickled effect.

When the paint has dried thoroughly, apply a coat of white shellac, thinned 50 per cent with denatured alcohol. The following day, rub lightly with fine steel wool in the direction of the grain. Apply a second coat of shellac. Wait still another day, then rub again, remembering that this is done with a very light touch.

Wipe off with a soft brush to remove any grit particles. Apply a coat of paste wax of the lightest color you can get. Buff with a soft cloth. The result will be the type of pickled finish your uncle meant.

There are some modern variations of this, but you can get an excellent finish by following the above instructions. We assume you like a pickled finish. Many persons don't.

Defense Need Keeping Steel Close To '66

CLEVELAND (AP) — Despite reduced orders from the automotive and appliance industries, miscellaneous orders and continued national defense needs are keeping the production of raw steel only one per cent behind last year's pace, Steel Magazine said today.

The metalworking weekly said that if the current pace is maintained through June, "first half output would total 64 million net tons . . . only about six per cent off the pace of first half 1966."

Market analysts said at the first of the year that "production would be six per cent less than the 1966 record furnace pour of 134.1 million net tons," Steel said. So far, "raw steel production is right on target."

Since automotive and appliance needs make up more than one-fifth the mill shipments of finished steel products annually, Steel said, "production so far this year has been remarkable in the light of depressed automotive and appliance steel buying."

For the week ended March 11, Steel estimated raw steel output at 2,540,000 net tons, "slightly above the 2,528,000 poured in the preceding week."

Steel said the 1966 trend has been "closely paralleled" this year and "current operations are equal to 82 per cent of effective estimated theoretical steelmaking (based on estimated effective annual capacity of 160 million tons). A year ago, the percentage was 86.5."

The magazine said that "steady buying of substantial tonnage for miscellaneous uses, plus continued heavy capital goods requirements, pressing defense needs, and seasonal revival in the construction and canmaking markets" are responsible for keeping steel orders at a high rate.

Steel's composite on No. 1 heavy melting grade scrap remained at $28.17 a gross ton.

Tips Are Offered For Obtaining Of Pickled Finish

AP Newsfeatures

Question: We have some old oak furniture on which we plan to remove the old varnish finish. We'd like to put on a pickled finish.

Our elderly uncle says that he remembers this being done with ordinary white paint. But he's not sure of the details, and we don't want to try it until we're sure what we're doing. Can you help us?

ANSWER: The type of finish your relative is referring to must be preceded by a thorough bleaching of the wood. While homemade bleaches were used years ago — and are still being used to a degree — we recommend that you use a good quality commercial bleach, following the directions on the container very carefully. Once this has been done, apply the white paint. Wait about an hour.

Then, using a clean, soft cloth, wipe off the paint, moving the cloth across the grain. This will take off most of the paint, but leave enough of it in the grain to produce the so-called pickled effect.

When the paint has dried thoroughly, apply a coat of white shellac, thinned 50 per cent with denatured alcohol. The following day, rub lightly with fine steel wool in the direction of the grain. Apply a second coat of shellac. Wait still another day, then rub again, remembering that this is done with a very light touch.

Wipe off with a soft brush to remove any grit particles. Apply a coat of paste wax of the lightest color you can get. Buff with a soft cloth. The result will be the type of pickled finish your uncle meant.

There are some modern variations of this, but you can get an excellent finish by following the above instructions. We assume you like a pickled finish. Many persons don't.

Practical And Decorative Storage

Creation of good outdoor storage space is a pressing need in most homes. Even a super-size basement is not substitute for outdoor space, for many things rightfully belong outside the house and are far more usable when stashed near the yard.

Garden tools are a good example. Hauling those up and down basement steps just isn't sensible — even if the item is only a trowel. Any gardener will agree that the job gets done faster and with less fuss when tools are kept right in the yard.

OTHER THINGS that belong outside include some sports equipment — skis and golf clubs, for instance — automotive supplies, and fireplace wood.

Now, where's the best stashing spot? The garage or carport is always a good candidate, providing it's designed for the job. Architects coping with the problem suggest that one wall of the carport be devoted to storage and designed with full-height double - door closets. These can open to the carport's interior or directly to the yard if protected by a roof overhang.

When closests open to the interior, the carport must be larger than standard to accommodate the opened closet doors as well as movement of equipment. A storage wall built at the end requires additional length, while one built along the side demands greater width. Figure a minimum of four feet extra, not including depth of the closets.

For end wall closets, it's also wise to include a side or back doorway to the yard so that equipment can be wheeled in and out without having to move parked cars.

IT'S EASY TO combine high style with practicality in carport storage. Closet doors can be built using handsome, hardwearing 1-by-4-inch tongue - and-groove western red cedar siding boards.

The siding boards are screwed into Z-shaped braces at the back. Two screws are used per board at each horizontal member of the brace and can be set so that the visible screw heads make a decorative pattern.

Doors can be hung with surface-applied butt hinges and gate latches with padlocks are a simple, sensible solution to hardware.

4-Year-Old Boy Turns On Switch And Cars Collide

LISBON — A 4-year - old boy turned on the ignition of a parked car at 4:45 p. m. Sunday on the Square and collided with another car.

Police said Larry Kessler, 25, of Lisbon R. D. 5, angle parked his 1960 station wagon on Nelson Ave., across from Morgan's drugstore, and left his son for a moment.

The car moved backward when the boy turned on the switch and hit the left side of a sedan driven by James Ieropoli of 118 S. Market St.

Safety First!

Ladder's Use Requires Care

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

More important than how well you paint the outside of your house is that you don't wind up in a hospital before you finish the job.

To get a good result involves a combination of proper preparation and adherence to certain fundamentals.

To avoid an accident with a long ladder calls for a similar combination. You have to see that the ladder is placed against the house so that it won't slip. And you have to observe safety precautions so that you won't fall off the ladder while doing the painting.

IF THE BASE of the ladder is the right distance from the foundation of the house, it will be properly balanced.

The "right distance" is one-fourth the length of the ladder. Thus, with a 16-foot ladder, the base should be four feet from the foundation. But this isn't enough to insure safety, especially on ground that is either too soft or too hard.

If the soil is soft, the ladder should rest on a wide, solid board and should be tested thoroughly by standing on the bottom rung and jumping up and down until you are convinced the board will stay put.

If the ladder is resting on concrete or a similar surface, its feet should be equipped with safety treads or one of the other devices which prevent slipping.

Where there is even the slightest doubt about the solidity of the setup, use roof ladder hooks, which fasten onto the high rungs of the ladder and hook over the roof ridge. Also, it's a good idea to use sneakers or rubber-soled shoes, making certain they are not wet or muddy when you climb the ladder.

Now that you've made certain that the ladder will behave itself, make equally certain that you do the same.

Don't stand on the top rung of the ladder. Never go higher than the second step from the top; if possible, don't go higher than the third step from the top. Trouble can be avoided here if the ladder is long enough.

When you begin the actual painting, don't reach out too far on either side of the ladder. Take the extra time to go down the ladder and move it over to the working area.

NEVR TURN your back on the ladder. If that sounds like superfluous advice, it isn't. Many accidents are caused when painters descend without fully facing the ladder.

When working in front of a door, either keep it wide open or lock it, placing the precautionary sign on the inside of the door.

Tech, Linden Co-Favorites To Win Class AA Crown

Strasburg Top-Heavy 'A' Choice

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Two-time state champion Cleveland East Tech and fourth-ranked Columbus Linden were the early co-favorites today to cop the Class AA state high school basketball championship.

And Strasburg of Tuscarawas County, the last unbeaten team in Ohio with a perfect 25 - 0 mark, was a top-heavy choice to annex the small school title.

But five other schools are also coming to St. John Arena this weekend with championship dreams of their own, including rugged Canton Lincoln and Cinderella Cincinnati LaSalle.

The two clubs ranked No. 1 in the final Associated Press poll—Columbus East and Ames-Bern—will be watching the action from the sidelines.

In other AA regional finales, East Tech bounced Elyria 72-58; LaSalle eliminated Colerain 70-58 and Lincoln disposed of Cuyahoga Falls 65-51.

In the small school competition, Strasburg routed Dalton 81-59; Kalida needed two overtimes to nip Fayette 67-65; Southeastern of Ross County clipped Ames-Bern 62 - 47 ending the Athens County school's 25-game victory string and Arcanum, the state king in 1956, shaded West Liberty Salem 47-45.

The eight-team field is all that remains from the more than 850 schools in the state that opened sectional tournament play last month. It's been a long, bumpy trail with a bundle of surprises.

When the firing starts for keeps Friday at 1:30 p.m., Southeastern (21-4) faces Strasburg (25-0) and Kalida (17-8) takes on Arcanum (23-2).

In the night twin-bill beginning at 7:30 p.m., Linden (20-2) opposes Lincoln (22-3) and fifth-ranked East Tech (22 - 2) vies against Lazsalle (14-11).

The finalists meet Saturday, Class A competition at 2 p.m. and Class AA at 7:30 p.m.

Vince Chickerella, coach of No. 4 ranked Linden, figures his Panthers have a good shot at the title.

"We feel we're a little better than the others because we beat the best team in the state. That should give our kids a big mental lift.'

Chickerella and the seven other coaches in the field were here Sunday to go over ground rules as explained by Ohio High School Athletic Association Commissioner Paul Landis.

All the coaches expressed nothing but respect for one another.

Lincoln's Ken Newlon admitted that Linden "has a lot going for it after beating East. But I'm sure all of us feel we can whip the other guy."

Lincoln handed Linden one of its two defeats in a 56-53 decision very early in the season.

East Tech's John Chavers said he felt his team hasn't played "it's best game yet. But our team is solid and we have two outstanding players in Bill Lucas and Myron Rodgers."

Chavers also said he isn't taking LaSalle lightly despite the record.

"We scouted them and they're for real. But if I had to pick a team to beat I'd have to point to Columbus Linden."

Bill Cady of LaSalle said his club jelled in tournament action and "We're real loose and don't feel the pressure. I think we'll make a good showing."

Coach Charles Huggins of second-ranked Strasburg is taking a cautious approach to his team's chances. The Tigers swept aside 25 foes by a margin of 14 points or more and are led by John Studer, a first-team All-Ohio pick as a junior last year.

East Tech is making its eighth trip to a state tournament while Lincoln lost in the 1962 semis to Hamilton Taft, 70-62. Neither LSalle nor Linden has ever come this far.

Southeastern is making a return visit, having lost in the semis a year ago to Rossford.

North Carolina Eyes Princeton In NCAA Play

Dayton Survives, But Toledo Bows

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

North Carolina's proud Tar Heels get another chance to twist the Tiger's tail this week—but Duke's disappointed Blue Devils are going to the dogs.

And Duke's Vic Bubas thinks these particular dogs—the Salukis of Southern Illinois—will bite just as sharp as they bark.

North Carolina, the nation's No. 4 college basketball power, downed the Blue Devils 82-73 last Saturday night for the Atlantic Coast Conference title and a berth — opposite Princeton's fifth-ranked Tigers — in the NCAA championships. Princeton handed North Carolina its first setback of the season last December.

Duke settled for the open spot in the National Invitation Tournament at New York, where the Blue Devils will collide with Southern Illinois' small college titans tonight in a quarter-final contest.

"I repeat what I said before the ACC finals," said Blue Devils Coach Bubas. "The ACC team playing Southern Illinois will be the underdog. Everybody who has seen them tells me they are a great team."

The Saluki is an Egyptian hunting dog — similar in appearance to the Greyhound — whom the Carbondale, Ill., school adopted as its athletic symbol in 1951.

Last Thursday night, the Salukis established their kinship with the greyhound by racing past St. Peter's, N.J., 103-58 in their Madison Square Garden debut. The margin of victory was an NIT record.

Coach Jack Hartman, however, tossed Bubas' bouquet back at the Duke pilot Sunday. "I don't see how he can feel that way," Hartman said. "This situation is brand new to us, but Duke is an established tournament club. They've been in these prestige post-season playoffs many times. I wouldn't think they'd be underdogs against Southern Illinois."

Underdogs pulled off several surprises in both the NCAA and NIT Saturday, with Dayton's 69-67 overtime victory over sixth-ranked Western Kentucky in the nationals and Rutgers' 78-76 NIT ambush of Utah State among the major upsets.

In other NCAA first-round action, Princeton whipped West Virginia 68-57; seventh-ranked Houston nipped New Mexico State 59-58; ninth-ranked Boston College got by Connecticut 48-42; No. 10 Texas Western eliminated Seattle 62-54; Virginia Tech upset Toledo 82-76 and St. John's, N.Y., ousted Temple 57-53.

Providence, led by Jim Walker's 37 points, trimmed Memphis State 77-68, New Mexico edged Syracuse 66-64 and Marquette topped Tulsa 64-60 in the NIT.

Unbeaten UCLA, the nation's No. 1 team, wound up its regular schedule by smashing Southern California 83-55 for a 26-0 mark as Lew Alcindor tossed in 26 points. The Bruins start their NCAA bid Friday night against Wyoming's Western Athletic Conference champions.

North Carolina earned a rematch with Princeton by knocking off North Carolina State, Wake Forest and Duke in the ACC tourney. Larry Miller's 32 points paced the Tar Heels past Duke in the final.

"This was the toughest possible way to win the championship," said North Carolina pilot Dean Smith. "Beating our three major North Carolina rival on successive nights...was a great accomplishment. We're delighted at the prospect of meeting Princeton again."

Rutgers' Bob Lloyd, the top foul shooter in the country, hit five free throws down the stretch in capping a 42-point effort that lifted the Scarlet Knights past taller Utah State. Walker, Providence's All America, became the 23rd player in college history to top the 2,000-point career mark with his binge against Memphis State. He now has 2,009.

Bob Hoover's 25-foot jump shot in the final second of overtime carried Dayton past Western Kentucky and Elvin Hayes pumped in 30 points in Houston's victory over New Mexico State.

Ambridge Set For Schenley In PIAA Play

HARRISBURG (AP) — This is championship week for Pennsylvania high school basketball and Darby Twp. and Lake Ariel kick it off tonight with a game that will decide the PIAA's eastern Class C title.

The hardwood tempo will increase during the week and climaxes Saturday night when the two survivors of the PIAA Class A competition collide in the Farm Show Arena here for the state crown.

The PIAA Class C and B finals will be held Friday night at the Farm Show Arena as a doubleheader.

On Wednesday night, Ambridge and defending champion Pittsburgh Schenley will meet in the Pitt Field House, and Chester and Allentown Dieruff will play in the Farm Show Arena with the winners meeting for the Class A title.

On Tuesday, Class B regional titles will be decided in games between Susquehanna Twp. and Montrose in the East and Turtle Creek and Mercer in the West.

In playoff action Saturday night, Schenley humbled Bradford, 77-36, to move into the Western regional finals. Ambridge, the WPIAL champ, also gained the finals with a 78-62 win over Altoona.

In the East, Chester eliminated Williamsport, 62-47. Allentown Dieruff drew a bye to move automatically into the regional finals.

In Class C action, defending state champion Williamsburg lost a 51-40 verdict to Union Joint in the Western regional title game. The loss was the first in 51 games for Williamsburg.

Schenley led all the way in disposing of Bradford in their game played at Westminster College, New Wilmington.

Ambridge's Dick DeVenzio and Dennis Wuycik combined for 48 points to defeat Altoona in a game played at the University of Pittsburgh Field House.

New Faces Shine For Braves, Mets; Old Arms Brighten Yanks, Orioles

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

New faces shown over the Atlanta and New York Mets exhibition baseball games while revitalized old arms brightened the outlook at the Baltimore and New York Yankees camps.

Clete Boyer, looking like a Yankee of old, played his first game with the Atlanta Braves and said he felt right at home Sunday after slamming three singles in Atlanta's 4-2 victory over Los Angeles in West Palm Beach, Fla.

The final hit, driving in a run, climaxed a two-run seventh inning that broke a 2-2 tie. Boyer also turned in a sparkling play on a swinging bunt in the eighth inning, turning it into a double play.

"There's really no difference," said the third baseman who spent eight years with the Yankees before being traded last winter, "just different faces on the infield.

"My legs are tired, but it was a good way to break in."

The Mets got their first glimpse of rookie Don Bosch, a 24-year-old center fielder for whom they traded pitcher Dennis Ribant to Pittsburgh.

The right-hander insisted on playing despite a sprained right hand and smacked two doubles, including one that drove in two fifth-inning runs against the St. Louis Cardinals and broke a scoreless tie. The Mets went on to beat the Cardinals 7-1 at St. Petersburg for the second straight time.

Steve Barber lit up Baltimore's already high hopes of another world championship when he tested his arm against the Yankees and turned in three shutout innings in a 7-2 Oriole victory at Miami.

Barber, who won 18 games for the Orioles in 1961, 20 in 1963 and 15 in 1965, was sidelined much of last season with a sore elbow. But the 28-year-old ace of the youthful Baltimore staff showed no effects of soreness as he allowed only two hits and a walk.

From the Yankee viewpoint, the pitching of Jim Bouton looked almost as good as the 28-year-old right-hander started his comeback after a 4-15 season in 1966. He gave up five hits, but stopped Baltimore without a run in the middle three innings as he tries to regain the form that won 21 games in 1963 and 18 in 1964.

A pair of pitching aces from last year, Gaylord Perry of San Francisco and Gary Peters of the Chicago White Sox, were in form as the Giants dropped Cleveland 7-1 at Phoenix, Ariz., and Chicago clipped Cincinnati 8-5 at Tampa, Fla.

Perry, a 21-game winner last year, shut out the Indians on two hits during his three-inning stint as the Giants overcame rookie Jose Vidal's three-run homer with a four-run fifth inning.

Peters, the American League earned run average leader last season, opened with three scoreless innings, but the White Sox needed four unearned runs and two other tallies on a balk and a wild pitch to beat the helpful Reds.

Ken Holtzman highlighted the Chicago Cubs 10-2 victory over California at Palm Springs, Calif., with three perfect innings, striking out two and permitting only one ball to leave the infield. He left with a 4-0 lead, half of it supplied by Adolfo Phillips' home run.

Rookie Dick Billings singled home the winning run in the last of the 10th inning to give Washington a 4-3 victory over Houston after Jim Landis' bases-loaded double provided the Astros with their runs.

Jim Northrup, Bill Freehan, Jake Wood and rookie Tom Matchick homered in Detroit's 10-3 romp over Minnesota at Lakeland, Fla., for its third straight triumph

Bill Mazeroski hit a two-run homer in Pittsburgh's 12-hit onslaught that cracked Philadelphia 10-4 at Fort Myers. Bob Veale was one of the few pitching stars with three shutout innings.

Jose Tartabull homered and singled twice as Boston unleashed 13 hits and sank Kansas City 8-3 at Winter Haven, Fla.

Allen Gets 4 Hits In Senators 4-2 Win

Bernie Allen of East Liverpool, seeking to win a regular spot in the Washington Senators lineup, collected four hits and drove in two runs in Washington's 4-2 exhibition victory over Houston Saturday at Cocoa, Fla.

Allen, who has been starting at second base for the Senators, smacked two doubles and two triples driving in a run in the third inning and one more in the ninth.

Tech, Linden Co-Favorites To Win Class AA Crown

Strasburg Top-Heavy 'A' Choice

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Two-time state champion Cleveland East Tech and fourth-ranked Columbus Linden were the early co-favorites today to cop the Class AA state high school basketball championship.

And Strasburg of Tuscarawas County, the last unbeaten team in Ohio with a perfect 25 - 0 mark, was a top-heavy choice to annex the small school title.

But five other schools are also coming to St. John Arena this weekend with championship dreams of their own, including rugged Canton Lincoln and Cinderella Cincinnati LaSalle.

The two clubs ranked No. 1 in the final Associated Press poll—Columbus East and Ames-Bern—will be watching the action from the sidelines.

Linden rudely ousted the top-rated Tigers 43-34 Saturday to cop the Columbus regional and hand Coach Bob Hart's team its only loss after 21 straight victories.

In other AA regional finales, East Tech bounced Elyria 72-58; LaSalle eliminated Colerain 70-58 and Lincoln disposed of Cuyahoga Falls 65-51.

In the small school competition, Strasburg routed Dalton 81-59; Kalida needed two overtimes to nip Fayette 67-65; Southeastern of Ross County clipped Ames-Bern 62 - 47 ending the Athens County school's 25-game victory string and Arcanum, the state king in 1956, shaded West Liberty Salem 47-45.

The eight-team field is all that remains from the more than 850 schools in the state that opened sectional tournament play last month. It's been a long, bumpy trail with a bundle of surprises.

When the firing starts for keeps Friday at 1:30 p.m., Southeastern (21-4) faces Strasburg (25-0) and Kalida (17-8) takes on Arcanum (23-2).

In the night twin-bill beginning at 7:30 p.m., Linden (20-2) opposes Lincoln (22-3) and fifth-ranked East Tech (22 - 2) vies against Lazsalle (14-11).

The finalists meet Saturday, Class A competition at 2 p.m. and Class AA at 7:30 p.m.

Vince Chickerella, coach of No. 4 ranked Linden, figures his Panthers have a good shot at the title.

"We feel we're a little better than the others because we beat the best team in the state. That should give our kids a big mental lift."

Chickerella and the seven other coaches in the field were here Sunday to go over ground rules as explained by Ohio High School Athletic Association Commissioner Paul Landis.

All the coaches expressed nothing but respect for one another.

Lincoln's Ken Newlon admitted that Linden "has a lot going for it after beating East. But I'm sure all of us feel we can whip the other guy."

Lincoln handed Linden one of its two defeats in a 56-53 decision very early in the season.

East Tech's John Chavers said he felt his team hasn't played "it's best game yet. But our team is solid and we have two outstanding players in Bill Lucas and Myron Rodgers."

Chavers also said he isn't taking LaSalle lightly despite the record.

"We scouted them and they're for real. But if I had to pick a team to beat I'd have to point to Columbus Linden."

Bill Cady of LaSalle said his club jelled in tournament action and "We're real loose and don't feel the pressure. I think we'll make a good showing."

Coach Charles Huggins of second-ranked Strasburg is taking a cautious approach to his team's chances. The Tigers swept aside 25 foes by a margin of 14 points or more and are led by John Studer, a first-team All-Ohio pick as a junior last year.

East Tech is making its eighth trip to a state tournament while Lincoln lost in the 1962 semis to Hamilton Taft, 70-62. Neither LSalle nor Linden has ever come this far.

Southeastern is making a return visit, having lost in the semis a year ago to Rossford.

North Carolina Eyes Princeton In NCAA Play

Dayton Survives, But Toledo Bows

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

North Carolina's proud Tar Heels get another chance to twist the Tiger's tail this week—but Duke's disappointed Blue Devils are going to the dogs.

And Duke's Vic Bubas thinks these particular dogs—the Salukis of Southern Illinois—will bite just as sharp as they bark.

North Carolina, the nation's No. 4 college basketball power, downed the Blue Devils 82-73 last Saturday night for the Atlantic Coast Conference title and a berth — opposite Princeton's fifth-ranked Tigers — in the NCAA championships. Princeton handed North Carolina its first setback of the season last December.

Duke settled for the open spot in the National Invitation Tournament at New York, where the Blue Devils will collide with Southern Illinois' small college titans tonight in a quarter-final contest.

"I repeat what I said before the ACC finals," said Blue Devils Coach Bubas. "The ACC team playing Southern Illinois will be the underdog. Everybody who has seen them tells me they are a great team."

The Saluki is an Egyptian hunting dog — similar in appearance to the Greyhound — whom the Carbondale, Ill., school adopted as its athletic symbol in 1951.

Last Thursday night, the Salukis established their kinship with the greyhound by racing past St. Peter's, N.J., 103-58 in their Madison Square Garden debut. The margin of victory was an NIT record.

Coach Jack Hartman, however, tossed Bubas' bouquet back at the Duke pilot Sunday. "I don't see how he can feel that way," Hartman said. "This situation is brand new to us, but Duke is an established tournament club. They've been in these prestige post-season playoffs many times. I wouldn't think they'd be underdogs against Southern Illinois."

Underdogs pulled off several surprises in both the NCAA and NIT Saturday, with Dayton's 69-67 overtime victory over sixth-ranked Western Kentucky in the nationals and Rutgers' 78-76 NIT ambush of Utah State among the major upsets.

In other NCAA first-round action, Princeton whipped West Virginia 68-57; seventh-ranked Houston nipped New Mexico State 59-58; ninth-ranked Boston College got by Connecticut 48-42; No. 10 Texas Western eliminated Seattle 62-54; Virginia Tech upset Toledo 82-76 and St. John's, N.Y., ousted Temple 57-53.

Providence, led by Jim Walker's 37 points, trimmed Memphis State 77-68, New Mexico edged Syracuse 66-64 and Marquette topped Tulsa 64-60 in the NIT.

Unbeaten UCLA, the nation's No. 1 team, wound up its regular schedule by smashing Southern California 83-55 for a 26-0 mark as Lew Alcindor tossed in 26 points. The Bruins start their NCAA bid Friday night against Wyoming's Western Athletic Conference champions.

North Carolina earned a rematch with Princeton by knocking off North Carolina State, Wake Forest and Duke in the ACC tourney. Larry Miller's 32 points paced the Tar Heels past Duke in the final.

"This was the toughest possible way to win the championship," said North Carolina pilot Dean Smith. "Beating our three major North Carolina rival on successive nights was a great accomplishment. We're delighted at the prospect of meeting Princeton again."

Rutgers' Bob Lloyd, the top foul shooter in the country, hit five free throws down the stretch in capping a 42-point effort that lifted the Scarlet Knights past taller Utah State. Walker, Providence's All America, became the 23rd player in college history to top the 2,000-point career mark with his binge against Memphis State. He now has 2,009.

Bob Hoover's 25-foot jump shot in the final second of overtime carried Dayton past Western Kentucky and Elvin Hayes pumped in 30 points in Houston's victory over New Mexico State.

Ambridge Set For Schenley In PIAA Play

HARRISBURG (AP) — This is championship week for Pennsylvania high school basketball and Darby Twp. and Lake Ariel kick it off tonight with a game that will decide the PIAA's eastern Class C title.

The hardwood tempo will increase during the week and climaxes Saturday night when the two survivors of the PIAA Class A competition collide in the Farm Show Arena here for the state crown.

The PIAA Class C and B finals will be held Friday night at the Farm Show Arena as a doubleheader.

On Wednesday night, Ambridge and defending champion Pittsburgh Schenley will meet in the Pitt Field House, and Chester and Allentown Dieruff will play in the Farm Show Arena with the winners meeting for the Class A title.

On Tuesday, Class B regional titles will be decided in games between Susquehanna Twp. and Montrose in the East and Turtle Creek and Mercer in the West.

In playoff action Saturday night, Schenley humbled Bradford, 77-36, to move into the Western regional finals. Ambridge, the WPIAL champ, also gained the finals with a 78-62 win over Altoona.

In the East, Chester eliminated Williamsport, 62-47. Allentown Dieruff drew a bye to move automatically into the regional finals.

In Class C action, defending state champion Williamsburg lost a 51-40 verdict to Union Joint in the Western regional title game. The loss was the first in 51 games for Williamsburg.

Schenley led all the way in disposing of Bradford in their game played at Westminster College, New Wilmington.

Ambridge's Dick DeVenzio and Dennis Wuycik combined for 48 points to defeat Altoona in a game played at the University of Pittsburgh Field House.

New Faces Shine For Braves, Mets; Old Arms Brighten Yanks, Orioles

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

New faces shown over the Atlanta and New York Mets exhibition baseball games while revitalized old arms brightened the outlook at the Baltimore and New York Yankees camps.

Clete Boyer, looking like a Yankee of old, played his first game with the Atlanta Braves and said he felt right at home Sunday after slamming three singles in Atlanta's 4-2 victory over Los Angeles in West Palm Beach, Fla.

The final hit, driving in a run, climaxed a two-run seventh inning that broke a 2-2 tie. Boyer also turned in a sparkling play on a swinging bunt in the eighth inning, turning it into a double play.

"There's really no difference," said the third baseman who spent eight years with the Yankees before being traded last winter, "just different faces on the infield.

"My legs are tired, but it was a good way to break in."

The Mets got their first glimpse of rookie Don Bosch, a 24-year-old center fielder for whom they traded pitcher Dennis Ribant to Pittsburgh.

The right-hander insisted on playing despite a sprained right hand and smacked two doubles, including one that drove in two fifth-inning runs against the St. Louis Cardinals and broke a scoreless tie. The Mets went on to beat the Cardinals 7-1 at St. Petersburg for the second straight time.

Steve Barber lit up Baltimore's already high hopes of another world championship when he tested his arm against the Yankees and turned in three shutout innings in a 7-2 Oriole victory at Miami.

Barber, who won 18 games for the Orioles in 1961, 20 in 1963 and 15 in 1965, was sidelined much of last season with a sore elbow. But the 28-year-old ace of the youthful Baltimore staff showed no effects of soreness as he allowed only two hits and a walk.

From the Yankee viewpoint, the pitching of Jim Bouton looked almost as good as the 28-year-old right-hander started his comeback after a 4-15 season in 1966. He gave up five hits, but stopped Baltimore without a run in the middle three innings as he tries to regain the form that won 21 games in 1963 and 18 in 1964.

A pair of pitching aces from last year, Gaylord Perry of San Francisco and Gary Peters of the Chicago White Sox, were in form as the Giants dropped Cleveland 7-1 at Phoenix, Ariz., and Chicago clipped Cincinnati 8-5 at Tampa, Fla.

Perry, a 21-game winner last year, shut out the Indians on two hits during his three-inning stint as the Giants overcame rookie Jose Vidal's three-run homer with a four-run fifth inning.

Peters, the American League earned run average leader last season, opened with three scoreless innings, but the White Sox needed four unearned runs and two other tallies on a balk and a wild pitch to beat the helpful Reds.

Ken Holtzman highlighted the Chicago Cubs 10-2 victory over California at Palm Springs, Calif., with three perfect innings, striking out two and permitting only one ball to leave the infield. He left with a 4-0 lead, half of it supplied by Adolfo Phillips' home run.

Rookie Dick Billings singled home the winning run in the last of the 10th inning to give Washington a 4-3 victory over Houston after Jim Landis' bases-loaded double provided the Astros with their runs.

Jim Northrup, Bill Freehan, Jake Wood and rookie Tom Matchick homered in Detroit's 10-3 romp over Minnesota at Lakeland, Fla., for its third straight triumph.

Bill Mazeroski hit a two-run homer in Pittsburgh's 12-hit onslaught that cracked Philadelphia 10-4 at Fort Myers. Bob Veale was one of the few pitching stars with three shutout innings.

Jose Tartabull homered and singled twice as Boston unleashed 13 hits and sank Kansas City 8-3 at Winter Haven, Fla.

Allen Gets 4 Hits In Senators 4-2 Win

Bernie Allen of East Liverpool, seeking to win a regular spot in the Washington Senators lineup, collected four hits and drove in two runs in Washington's 4-2 exhibition victory over Houston Saturday at Cocoa, Fla.

Allen, who has been starting at second base for the Senators, smacked two doubles and two triples driving in a run in the third inning and one more in the ninth.

Troiani Hits 300 Game

Al (Chubby) Troiani, manager of the Riviera Lanes Bowling Alleys in Midland, is the second bowler to chalk up a perfect game at the lanes. Troiani rolled his 300 game in sanctioned bowling March 9, while bowling with the "Riviera Ball Drillers". His feat was witnessed by some 40 bowlers. He had a 634 series.

Troiani rolled a perfect game once before, but it was not in ABC sanctioned competition.

Troiani will go to the Awards banquet in Pittsburgh in June, when he will be awarded an ABC ring. He has been bowling for 10 years and holds a 185 average, bowling two nights a week in different leagues.

The other 300 game at the Riviera belongs to Aaron Hall of East Liverpool. He scored it in 1963 while bowling with the LaBelle team of Crucible.

3 Foul Shot Misses Cost Royals Game

By The Associated Press

Cincinnati almost was in like Flynn but instead the Royals today find themselves still chasing the New York Knickerbockers in the race for third place in the National Basketball Association's Eastern Division.

The Royals were two foul shots away from third place and Flynn Robinson had three chances to make them after the final buzzer of Cincinnati's game at St. Louis Sunday.

But Robinson missed all three shots, leaving the Royals on the short end of a 120-119 final score, and a half-game back of the Knicks, who bowed to Philadelphia 131-120. Cincinnati has four games left to play and New York three.

In Sunday's other games, Boston downed Baltimore 123-118 and Detroit whipped Los Angeles 120-104. Saturday night, Boston shaded Philadelphia 116-114, Cincinnati walloped Chicago 147-119 and Los Angeles defeated San Francisco 125-120.

Hal Greer and Billy Cunningham led Philadelphia past the Knicks at New York. Greer poured in 38 points and Cunningham 30 as the 76ers wiped out a nine-point Knickerbocker lead with a 34-8 outburst.

Walt Bellamy had 34 points and Cazzie Russell 26 for the Knicks, who played without Dick Barnett, Dave Stallworth and Dick Van Arsdale.

Boros Takes Citrus Open

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Julius Boros says he won enough money capturing the Citrus Open golf title to "pay off the mortgage and retire," but the cagey campaigner isn't quite ready to call it quits.

Off to his fastest start in 17 seasons as a pro, the 47-year-old father of seven is determined to win a spot on the Ryder Cup squad which meets England's top professionals in October.

"There's not much money in the Ryder Cup, but it's worth a lot in prestige," Boros added after picking up a $23,000 check for winning the Citrus crown, his second title payoff of the year.

"That would be a great way to bow out, beating the English," Boros said, but later he added that he had no definite plans to retire.

"I used to retire every Monday and made a comeback every Thursday," said Boros, who with the rest of the Orlando contenders will play in the Jacksonville Open which starts Thursday.

Boros, now second on the 1967 official golf money list with $43,287 isn't playing like a man about to quit.

He and Arnold Palmer are the only two double winners of the pro tour this year.

Troiani Hits 300 Game

Al (Chubby) Troiani, manager of the Riviera Lanes Bowling Alleys in Midland, is the second bowler to chalk up a perfect game at the lanes. Troiani rolled his 300 game in sanctioned bowling March 9, while bowling with the "Riviera Ball Drillers". His feat was witnessed by some 40 bowlers. He had a 634 series.

Troiani rolled a perfect game once before, but it was not in ABC sanctioned competition.

Troiani will go to the Awards banquet in Pittsburgh in June, when he will be awarded an ABC ring. He has been bowling for 10 years and holds a 185 average, bowling two nights a week in different leagues.

The other 300 game at the Riviera belongs to Aaron Hall of East Liverpool. He scored it in 1963 while bowling with the LaBelle team of Crucible.

Boros Takes Citrus Open

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Julius Boros says he won enough money capturing the Citrus Open golf title to "pay off the mortgage and retire," but the cagey campaigner isn't quite ready to call it quits.

Off to his fastest start in 17 seasons as a pro, the 47-year-old father of seven is determined to win a spot on the Ryder Cup squad which meets England's top professionals in October.

"There's not much money in the Ryder Cup, but it's worth a lot in prestige," Boros added after picking up a $23,000 check for winning the Citrus crown, his second title payoff of the year.

"That would be a great way to bow out, beating the English," Boros said, but later he added that he had no definite plans to retire.

"I used to retire every Monday and made a comeback every Thursday," said Boros, who with the rest of the Orlando contenders will play in the Jacksonville Open which starts Thursday.

Boros, now second on the 1967 official golf money list with $43,287 isn't playing like a man about to quit.

He and Arnold Palmer are the only two double winners of the pro tour this year.

3 Foul Shot Misses Cost Royals Game

By The Associated Press

Cincinnati almost was in like Flynn but instead the Royals today find themselves still chasing the New York Knickerbockers in the race for third place in the National Basketball Association's Eastern Division.

The Royals were two foul shots away from third place and Flynn Robinson had three chances to make them after the final buzzer of Cincinnati's game at St. Louis Sunday.

But Robinson missed all three shots, leaving the Royals on the short end of a 120-119 final score, and a half-game back of the Knicks, who bowed to Philadelphia 131-120. Cincinnati has four games left to play and New York three.

In Sunday's other games, Boston downed Baltimore 123-118 and Detroit whipped Los Angeles 120-104. Saturday night, Boston shaded Philadelphia 116-114, Cincinnati walloped Chicago 147-119 and Los Angeles defeated San Francisco 125-120.

Hal Greer and Billy Cunningham led Philadelphia past the Knicks at New York. Greer poured in 38 points and Cunningham 30 as the 76ers wiped out a nine-point Knickerbocker lead with a 34-8 outburst.

Walt Bellamy had 34 points and Cazzie Russell 26 for the Knicks, who played without Dick Barnett, Dave Stallworth and Dick Van Arsdale.

The Return Of Jack Bailey

JACK BAILEY
No More Washing Machines

If you look closely behind the scrubby old beard on a miner named Crick in next Wednesday's episode of ABC-TV's "The Monroes" (8 p.m., Channel 7), you'll find Jack Bailey.

Hal Humphrey

Remember Jack, the josher of little old ladies and hankie holder for harassed housewives who aspired to be "Queen for a Day"? Well, that sentimental sojourn into prizeland finally ended for Jack two and a half years ago, but not until he had crowned some 5,000 queens and given away approximately $23 million in merchandise (retail, that is) in the two decades that "Queen for a Day" permeated our airwaves.

-:-

WHEN IT WAS all over, Jack discovered he was as extraneous as a buggy whip. None of the agents, producers or other procurers of talent he contacted for jobs recognized him without a washing machine under one arm and a silver service for eight under the other.

"Queen was the last of the big audience participation shows," says Jack, "and I found out fast that the game shows on TV didn't want an emcee, but just a scorekeeper. It took me a whole year to live down the stigma of something I'd done—and I thought successfully—for 20 years."

Nobody remembered or believed that John Wesley Bailey III of Hampton, Iowa, had begun his career as a musician (he plays five instruments) and while attending Drake University at Des Moines joined Ralph Bellamy's (the actor) stock company.

FROM THERE he became an impresario of historical pageants, a spieler on the Chicago World's Fair (1933) midway and from 1939 to 1940 was the voice of Goofy in the Disney Donald Duck films.

Besides cooling his heels last summer in the offices of skeptical producers, Jack opened an art gallery in nearby Malibu where among other art treasures he also displayed some Bailey landscapes and portraits.

"It didn't work out," says Jack. "That's a business you have to spend 14 hours a day at, and I was too busy trying to get back into show business."

-:-

FINALLY, to change his image and his luck, Jack grew a beard. His wife, Carolyn, thought it made him look only old and dirty, but producer Ben Fox of "The Monroes" saw a new Jack Bailey and hired him to play the miner, Crick, in the episode airing this week.

"The beard got me a role in a 'Gunsmoke' coming up later this month, and when Fess Parker saw it — the beard — he said he wanted me for a Daniel Boone episode — or at least my beard," reports Jack.

After the Monroes episode with Jack as old Crick, he figures other producers will see him and his career as a character actor may be well on its way. Of course, there's always the possibility that audience participation shows will come back (Jack believes they will), and when he applies for the emcee job, some young producer will say, "Sorry, Jack, but you're not the type."

WITHIN the next couple of months Jack will be getting mail from old fans in the Middle West asking for summertime tickets to "Queen for a Day," which always is a rather traumatic experience for him.

"Really, a lot of people don't know that 'Queen' is gone yet, and in some cases I haven't the heart to tell them," Jack says. "After all, maybe they've got a kind of TV set I don't know about. Seriously, what happens is that many of them think it is just their local channel which has cut 'Queen' off."

There is an ex-"Queen for a Day" club which still meets, and naturally Jack plays king on such occasions. It gives him a guilty feeling, though, as if somehow he had failed in his mission to keep the lineage intact.

IN THE MEANTIME the bearded Bailey continues to make the rounds for acting jobs, or he will don his white shirt and tie any time he sees an "Emcee Wanted" sign.

Not long ago Universal Studios did a pilot film on a game show, but passed up Bailey for Les Crane. The pilot didn't sell, but Jack is too gallant to say Universal had the wrong man for the job.

"I may still get out my trombone and organize a band. Something between Lawrence Welk and the late Spike Jones might just go now," says Jack.

Creatura Directs Struthers Band

John Creatura, son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip J. Creatura of 409 14th St., Wellsville, is director of the Struthers High School Band that won a superior rating in the A-2 Class at a district band and chorus contest Saturday at Warren.

Creatura, a graduate of Youngstown University, is working on his master's degree at Kent State University. He will take his band to the state finals at Columbus.

He is married and has three children.

BOTH GOOD AND BAD greeted East Liverpool school officials Saturday when they inspected the Northside site of the new high school and elementary school now under construction. The "good" was the progress being made by contractors on the two buildings. The "bad" was the sea of mud through which they had to wade. The thaw also has slowed the work to a degree because the heavy machinery bogs down. Pausing during the tour are, left to right in the back row, Carl Pelini, assistant superintendent; Jack Woomer, board member; Robert Beatty, architect, and Supt. Paul Blair, in the front, Richard Smith, Postmaster Samuel Brown, Mrs. Nessie Dunlop, president, and Harry McConville, board members. Officials inspect the work at least once a month.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: Have you ever heard of "Bop the Bunny?" Well, neither had I — until yesterday.

Some local people decided there should be more "togetherness" between fathers and sons, so they organized a Hunt Group. Since most of the boys were too young for guns (under 10 years of age) the "hunters" decided to use rocks and sticks as weapons.

The idea of the game is to make a human chain across a field and let the dogs loose to flush out the rabbits. As the rabbits run out of the brush to escape the dogs, the fathers and sons hit the defenseless creatures with sticks and rocks. The good aimers who land fatal blows are the heroes of the game. They call it "Bop the Bunny."

My first reaction was "those poor rabbits," but then I began to think "those poor children!" What a tragedy to be brought up to believe it is fun to beat helpless animals to death.

I contacted the Humane Society and asked why they allowed such cruelty. The reply was, "There is nothing we can do about it." I'd like to know why not.

Please tell me what you think about this game. I have been arguing with people since last Sunday. You'd be surprised at the number of folks who think it's perfectly all right. — CHARLESTON, S.C.

DEAR CHARLESTON: I checked with the Humane Society in Chicago and learned that the authorities of their national headquarters took legal action to try to stop "Bunny Bopping" in North Carolina but the judge ruled that the society had "no right to meddle." The Illinois conservation laws, on the other hand, would not tolerate "Bunny Bopping."

In all fairness it must be conceded that rabbits can pose a threat to a rural economy just as rats can be a problem to urban society, but when this occurs the rabbits should be exterminated in a humane manner. To make a game of beating rabbits to death and to call it "fun" is utterly indefensible.

Good Samaritan

DEAR ANN: I am a woman of 30 with four good children and a fine husband. I have been reading your column for many years and like so many others, I never dreamed that one day I would be writing to you for advice. But here I am.

I was raised in the Lutheran faith and attended a church school. We were taught to live by the Ten Commandments. I believe one should love his neighbor as himself and for this reason I have always been very kind to two unmarried ladies who live in our block.

Yesterday we had a heavy snow. I noticed the walk in front of their home was not shoveled, so I offered to shovel it. To my astonishment I was told that snow was an act of God and they did not wish to go against His will.

I decided to shovel the walk anyway. An hour later I received a phone call from one of the sisters, ordering me to stay off their property and mind my own business.

I ask you, Ann Landers, does it pay to be nice to people? — INSULTED.

-:-

DEAR INSULTED: Yes, it pays to be nice to people. Moreover, it can be downright rewarding. But — when the people are a little cuckoo, anything can happen. So please don't let these two dollies sour you on the Ten Commandments. What else can you name that still works after more than 3,000 years?

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Purinton Named To Loan Group

Alwyn C. Purinton Jr., president of the Potters Savings and Loan Co. here, has been appointed to the 1967 Advisory Committee on State Legislation of the U.S. Savings and Loan League.

The appointment was announced today by Otto L. Preisler of Chicago, president of the league, which is the nationwide trade organization of the savings and loan business and represents more than 5,100 savings associations and cooperative banks.

The advisory committee reviews and discusses the present and proposed state legislation, is responsible for the development of a modern model savings and loan law and studies ways in which real estate and mortgage loans in the various states can be improved so as to lower the cost of home buying and home ownership.

BOTH GOOD AND BAD greeted East Liverpool school officials Saturday when they inspected the Northside site of the new high school and elementary school now under construction. The "good" was the progress being made by contractors on the two buildings. The "bad" was the sea of mud through which they had to wade. The thaw also has slowed the work to a degree because the heavy machinery bogs down. Pausing during the tour are, left to right in the back row, Carl Pelini, assistant superintendent; Jack Woomer, board member; Robert Beatty, architect, and Supt. Paul Blair, in the front, Richard Smith, Postmaster Samuel Brown, Mrs. Nessie Dunlop, president, and Harry McConville, board members. Officials inspect the work at least once a month.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: Have you ever heard of "Bop the Bunny?" Well, neither had I — until yesterday.

Some local people decided there should be more "togetherness" between fathers and sons, so they organized a Hunt Group. Since most of the boys were too young for guns (under 10 years of age) the "hunters" decided to use rocks and sticks as weapons.

The idea of the game is to make a human chain across a field and let the dogs loose to flush out the rabbits. As the rabbits run out of the brush to escape the dogs, the fathers and sons hit the defenseless creatures with sticks and rocks. The good aimers who land fatal blows are the heroes of the game. They call it "Bop the Bunny."

My first reaction was "those poor rabbits," but then I began to think "those poor children!" What a tragedy to be brought up to believe it is fun to beat helpless animals to death.

I contacted the Humane Society and asked why they allowed such cruelty. The reply was, "There is nothing we can do about it." I'd like to know why not.

Please tell me what you think about this game. I have been arguing with people since last Sunday. You'd be surprised at the number of folks who think it's perfectly all right. — CHARLESTON, S.C.

DEAR CHARLESTON: I checked with the Humane Society in Chicago and learned that the authorities of their national headquarters took legal action to try to stop "Bunny Bopping" in North Carolina but the judge ruled that the society had "no right to meddle." The Illinois conservation laws, on the other hand, would not tolerate "Bunny Bopping."

In all fairness it must be conceded that rabbits can pose a threat to a rural economy just as rats can be a problem to urban society, but when this occurs the rabbits should be exterminated in a humane manner. To make a game of beating rabbits to death and to call it "fun" is utterly indefensible.

Good Samaritan

DEAR ANN: I am a woman of 30 with four good children and a fine husband. I have been reading your column for many years and like so many others, I never dreamed that one day I would be writing to you for advice. But here I am.

I was raised in the Lutheran faith and attended a church school. We were taught to live by the Ten Commandments. I believe one should love his neighbor as himself and for this reason I have always been very kind to two unmarried ladies who live in our block.

Yesterday we had a heavy snow. I noticed the walk in front of their home was not shoveled, so I offered to shovel it. To my astonishment I was told that snow was an act of God and they did not wish to go against His will.

I decided to shovel the walk anyway. An hour later I received a phone call from one of the sisters, ordering me to stay off their property and mind my own business.

I ask you, Ann Landers, does it pay to be nice to people? — INSULTED.

-:-

DEAR INSULTED: Yes, it pays to be nice to people. Moreover, it can be downright rewarding. But — when the people are a little cuckoo, anything can happen. So please don't let these two dollies sour you on the Ten Commandments. What else can you name that still works after more than 3,000 years?

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Kaycees Plan Midland Art Show Again

Midland Council 2005 of the Knights of Columbus will hold its Tenth Annual Regional Art Exhibition at Midland July 2 through July 15, Lloyd Hendry, grand knight, has announced.

He said the show will feature the works of professional and amateur artists as well as all art students within a 100-mile radius of Midland.

The Midland council is the only fraternal order sponsoring a show of this nature in the area. As in the past, the show will be judged by well-known artists in the tri-state area.

The 1965 show was judged by William Rakocy of Youngstown, who has won recognition nationally and internationally. A 1966 show was not held.

Early announcement of the tenth annual event is being made, Hendry said, to give area artists, interested in submitting pictures, sufficient time to prepare entries.

Entry blanks must be postmarked no later than June 17. All work must be delivered to 832 Midland Ave., June 23-27 between 7 and 9 p.m. Entries may not be removed before the exhibition closes.

Prizes will be awarded July 4 at 4 p. m. Entry blanks may be obtained from Anthony J. Martell of 620 Midland Ave., Midland.

Kaycees Plan Midland Art Show Again

Midland Council 2005 of the Knights of Columbus will hold its Tenth Annual Regional Art Exhibition at Midland July 2 through July 15, Lloyd Hendry, grand knight, has announced.

He said the show will feature the works of professional and amateur artists as well as all art students within a 100-mile radius of Midland.

Hendry said the success of shows in the past has prompted the council to extend the area of participation.

The Midland council is the only fraternal order sponsoring a show of this nature in the area. As in the past, the show will be judged by well-known artists in the tri-state area.

The 1965 show was judged by William Rakocy of Youngstown, who has won recognition nationally and internationally. A 1966 show was not held.

Early announcement of the tenth annual event is being made, Hendry said, to give area artists, interested in submitting pictures, sufficient time to prepare entries.

Entry blanks must be postmarked no later than June 17. All work must be delivered to 832 Midland Ave., June 23-27 between 7 and 9 p.m. Entries may not be removed before the exhibition closes.

Prizes will be awarded July 4 at 4 p. m. Entry blanks may be obtained from Anthony J. Martell of 620 Midland Ave., Midland.

Junior Editors Quiz on DOGS

QUESTION: How did dogs develop?

ANSWER. Zoologists say that tomarcus, (upper left) was the animal from which wolves and jackals, as well as wild and domestic dogs, later developed. Living about 15 million years ago, tomarcus looked like a wolf with long body and short legs. Wolves resemble dogs closely, and early dogs were probably bred from tame wolves.

According to the scientists, early man domesticated the dog much earlier than he did the cat or other animals. This was because he lived by hunting, and wolves or dogs could locate an animal by smelling it so the hunter could come up and do the killing. So man and dog became partners, working together and sharing the reward of a good dinner.

Dogs bred for special purposes changed from their original appearance. For instance, dogs bred in ancient Egypt to catch gazelles by running became lean and graceful with long legs. The large dog shown is such a type. It is a carving found in King Tutankhamon's tomb and was supposed to carry the king's spirit.
